Marine Recruits on Hijacked Jetliner

MIAMI (AP)—A hijacker believed to be a Venezuelan forced a Delta Air Lines jet carrying 114 persons, including 26 young Marine Corps recruits, to fly to Cuba early today.

Minus the hijacker, the plane returned to the United States, landing at Miami at 8:16 a.m. EST, to refuel before continuing. Its original destinations were San Diego, Calif., and Los Angeles.

Delta officials reported that the hijacker, who seemed to be a Venezuelan, sat in the first row of the tourist section. They said he forced a stewardess into the cockpit with a snub nosed revolver.

The plane landed safely at Havana, where the security guard around the terminal area was so tight that foreign newsmen could not get a glimpse of the hijacker.

The plane was seized 10 minutes after takeoff from Dallas in the 21st hijacking of a commercial airliner to Cuba this year.

The DC8 was preparing to complete Delta's Flight 821 from Newark, N.J., to San Diego and Los Angeles when pilot William Wood radioed for permission to change course.

"Are you returning to the field?" asked the control center at Fort Worth, Tex.

"No," Capt. Wood said, "flying to Havana."

If Cuban authorities follow the pattern established in recent hijackings, the plane and its passengers would be released today for the return flight to the United States.

Most of those aboard the jet, including the Marine recruits, were en route to San Diego. Other military personnel also were aboard.

In Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Jack May said her son, Seaman Apprentice Jimmy May, 18, was one of the passengers.

"We didn't have any idea our son would become a world traveler so soon," she said. "We were talking about how he probably would be getting into San Diego when we heard it on radio."

The hijacking was the 14th this year of a U.S. airliner, pushing the 1969 total to an all-time high. In all of 1968 there were 13 U.S. planes and seven from other countries diverted to Cuba.

Clearing Sedalia 'Jungle'

When the smoke clears, this Sedalia 'jungle,' long an eyesore to the community, will have a new look. The property, just across Massachusetts from Smith-Cotton High School, is being cleaned up by the Street and Alley Department, but the bill will be sent to the property owner. Vernon Ditton, superintendent, said his department will clean out the dead trees, fallen limbs and underbrush before they declare the job finished. (Democrat-Capital Photo).

New Spending Cuts, Extended Tax Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "inflation is a form of economic aggression," proposed to Congress today that the problem be met by extending the income tax surcharge for another 12 months and by making significant cuts in federal spending.

In a special message, Nixon reported that at least half of the budget surpluses envisioned in January by former President Lyndon B. Johnson already have evaporated—in some cases because of inflation and in others because of overly optimistic estimates.

Faced with that situation, Nixon said he will propose budget revisions for the fiscal year starting July 1 that will reduce spending "significantly below the amount recommended in January." He gave no details.

The chief executive, in calling for a continuation of the 10 per cent federal income tax surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, declared:

"As I have said before, the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast Asia and economic conditions permit."

In the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, said earlier that Congress should insist on a second big spending cut as its price for extending the surcharge.

And the Senate's Democrat spokesman said Congress should decide where the cuts are made—unlike last year when it left most of the trimming to former President Johnson.

It was announced Tuesday that President Nixon would ask Congress today for a year's extension of the surtax. His request is expected to win approval, but, as with most taxes, neither quickly nor cheerfully.

Nixon's announcement came more than three months before the current surtax expires June 30 and on the heels of a report that the cost of living in the nation has gone up sharply.

Mansfield said in an interview that, if Congress goes along with the President, it should "impose a $10 billion cut in requested appropriations and a reduction of $5 billion in actual expenditures as a price to be paid for continuing this heavy taxation."

Laying down a Democratic position, he said cuts should be made in defense funds, and in spending for overseas bases, deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system, the space program and for research and development.

Rather than tossing this issue to the President, I think Con-

Therapy No Help To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today the condition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remains critical and evidence of his congestive heart failure persists "despite the fact that all appropriate therapeutic measures are being utilized."

A morning medical bulletin read to reporters by Col. John L. Bradley, executive officer of the Walter Reed Army Hospital, also said Eisenhower "slept comfortably through most of the night."

"He continues to enjoy brief visits with members of the immediate family," it added.

Reporters asked whether use of the word "critical" in Tuesday night's bulletin and again today meant that Eisenhower was "near death." Doctors replied "not necessarily."

But in reply to another question they said it was "uncertain" how long a patient in Eisenhower's general physical condition "and not responding to treatment" could be expected to endure severe congestive heart failure.

Asked to compare the 78-year-old general's condition at the present time with his condition last August—at the time of his seventh and most recent coronary heart attack and when doctors described it as "very critical,"—they replied: "His condition is considered to be critical."

They attributed Eisenhower's "remarkable ability to recover from so many major illnesses" to "his inherent stamina."

The physicians also said Eisenhower is always conscious "except when sleeping" and added he is lucid enough to con-

House Approves Election Change

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House advanced a bill today to speed up the counting of Missouri election ballots by authorizing the counting of absentee votes on election day.

Now the counting of absentee ballots is delayed until Friday or Saturday after the election and sometimes even the following week. Missouri's presidential voting was not finally known last November until almost a week after the election.

The House refused to accept one amendment that would have required a competence certificate from a physician before a patient of a nursing or rest home could cast an absentee ballot.

Sponsors of the amendment said patients in nursing homes aren't competent to care for themselves let alone to vote intelligently. But, they said, politicians take bundles of absentee ballots to such places and vote the patients as they wanted.

"Some of them don't even know later that they voted," one member said.

The amendment was defeated 52-105.

Among other amendments rejected was one that would delay the counting until the day after the election.

The House majority leader, Rep. Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, announced the decision to call an Easter recess starting late Thursday of this week and ending Monday, April 14. He said the decision for an early start was prompted because many House members wanted to be at home for next Tuesday's municipal elections.

The earlier decision had been to start the vacation next Wednesday and many house committees had been set to meet Monday and Tuesday of next week.

During today's morning session the house worked on comparatively minor bills.

Tuesday, the house pushed ahead bills for an April presidential preferential primary in Missouri and for statewide voter registration.

Members advanced a bill setting a presidential primary for the first Tuesday in April. It would also bind delegates to the national convention except under certain circumstances.

The House also advanced, 92-38, a bill requiring statewide voter registration. Now in the outstate counties it's up to the voters whether registration should be required.

The primary measure was a compromise of bills that would have set a presidential primary in April, May or June. There is a similar bill in the Senate Elections Committee. It, however, would permit the candidates to choose their own delegates.

Under the House - approved bill delegates would be freed if

Free Elections, 'Sanity' Vowed by New Dictator

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's new military dictator, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, told his turbulent nation today he would "bring back sanity" to set the stage for free elections.

"I wish to make it absolutely clear to you that I have no ambition other than the creation of conditions conducive to the establishment of a constitutional government," he said in his first broadcast after taking over from President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Sixteen hours before Ayub Khan resigned after appointing Yahya supreme commander of Pakistan's armed forces and chief martial law administrator. Yahya's promise to "bring back sanity" was the same made by Ayub when he seized power in 1958 and ruled by martial law for three years.

Ayub, who announced earlier he would not seek re-election next year, admitted Tuesday night this did not satisfy his political opponents and he could not cope with mob violence wracking Pakistan's eastern half, on the other side of India.

"My first task is to put the administration back on the rails," Yahya said. "Strikes and industrial unrest have brought the nation to the edge of an abyss.

He assured the people the armed forces "have no political ambitions and will not prop up any individual or party," and he indicated he would go through with constitutional reforms promised by Ayub before his resignation.

Yahya, 52, is considered to have pro-Western views despite visits to Moscow and Peking earlier this year. He fought with British forces in Italy and the Middle East during World War II and was appointed Ayub's military commander in East Pakistan in 1962. In the 1965 Indian-Pakistani war he commanded an infantry division and was decorated for bravery."

Martial law regulations announced by Radio Pakistan banned all strikes, demonstrations and political meetings.

Final Council Push By GOP Candidates

City GOP officials launched their final campaign effort before next Tuesday's election with a first ward meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Heber Hunt School. W. O. Smith conducted the meeting. About 17 persons attended.

Dean Edwards, Republican committee chairman, introduced E. E. "Blackie" Baugher, GOP candidate for councilman for the first ward, who presented his views on some of the problems facing Sedalia.

"Can anyone remember a tax, anywhere, anytime, ever being removed or lowered in Sedalia?" asked Baugher. He pledged no increase in city real estate taxes for any purpose, calling for a city budget that can be financed out of current income.

Baugher also called for the following:

1. Creation of a joint city-county planning and zoning board whose decisions would be final.

2. Updating of the city building code.

3. Construction of low-rent public housing for the poor and elderly at no cost to Sedalia.

Aaron Haller was recognized and praised Baugher for his role in setting up the carpenters pre-apprentice program at State Fair Community College.

Carl Wehrli, GOP candidate for city assessor, told the audience that after questioning several individuals about the duties of the city assessor, he had found that the only duty performed by the city assessor was the signing of a paper presented to him by the county assessor each year.

Wehrli commented that it had been his previous understanding that the mayor and city assessor served on the boards of appeals and equalization, but that this was not so anymore, and that the office of city assessor was actually not needed.

Mayor Ralph Walker was introduced by Edwards and made a few remarks. Calling the upcoming vote on the proposed city charter of vital importance to Sedalia, Walker asserted that the "politicians are girding" to oppose the home rule issue, and urged those in favor of charter government to give it their full support.

Democratic Meeting In the Second Ward

About 30 persons attended a second ward Democratic meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Washington School on behalf of Roland (Doc) Snavely, incumbent second ward councilman.

The meeting was called to order by John Vandekamp, city Democratic chairman, who urged those present to work hard for the Democratic slate. Vandekamp then introduced Snavely, who thanked those present for their support.

Also speaking on behalf of Snavely were Councilmen Ray Simons and Bob Wells, both of the third ward.

Others who were introduced and spoke briefly for Snavely were Larry Englund, first ward candidate for councilman, and Perry Edd, fourth ward candidate. Kenny Pabst, candidate for the school board, and Julian Bagby also spoke.

The main speaker of the evening was James E. Durley, local attorney, who stressed the importance of the council election. He said there was a need to keep councilmen with seniority in office, such as Snavely, and reminded the audience that Snavely had been named mayor pro tem by the council.

Sounding a note similar to that of John McCloskey, who spoke at the first ward Democratic meeting Monday night, Durley called for the election of a Democratic council to pave the way for the return of a Democratic mayor in the next election.

"We've had a long drouth of Democratic mayors in this town," Durley said, "we've had a long drouth of progressive leadership."

Woody Garrison, city building inspector, closed the meeting by urging those attending to get out the vote on behalf of all Democratic candidates.

The third ward Democratic meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Whittier School, with Adam Fischer speaking on behalf of Ray Simons.

World News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources said today proposals to increase Social Security benefits are under active study and they hinted it might be possible to boost benefits without raising payroll taxes.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Jasper M. Brancato, D-Kansas City, collapsed in his Capitol office today but was back from a hospital and on the job again within an hour.

A friend of the senator, Alex Presta of Kansas City, accompanied Brancato to the hospital and said doctors could find no evidence of any heart attack or damage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon told a highly critical Senate subcommittee today the Safeguard antimissile system would provide incentives for the Soviet Union to negotiate nuclear arms limitations.

David R. Packard, deputy secretary of defense, thus went to the heart of the disarmament subcommittee's argument that the $7 billion missile defense plan would stimulate a nuclear arms race.

Major US Base Hit by Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortars smashed into a major American base south of Saigon early today, blowing up hundreds of tons of ammunition, wrecking scores of buildings, and destroying three helicopters. Only a few Americans were killed, but more than 60 were wounded.

Shelling of the headquarters base of the 9th Infantry Division at Dong Tam, 40 miles south of Saigon, was one of 30 rocket and mortar attacks by the Viet Cong on the 32nd night of their spring offensive.

North Vietnamese troops followed up one of the attacks with an infantry charge that carried them to the barbed wire perimeter of another American base 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Before they were driven off eight American air cavalrymen were killed, 17 were wounded and only two enemy bodies were found on the barbed wire.

Col. Ira Hunt of McLean, Va., chief of staff of the 9th Division, estimated that as much as 500 tons of ammunition, mostly small arms, went up in the attack on the Dong Tam base.

"We were expecting it because we had information from a prisoner," Hunt told AP photographer Max Nash.

Hunt said about 13 rounds of 120mm mortars, the biggest in the enemy arsenal, slammed into the base an hour and a half before midnight but caused little damage.

"We thought that was it," said Hunt. "Many men had left their bunkers after the first attack."

Then came another barrage about midnight. One of the first shells hit an ammunition storage pad, triggering a series of explosions in at least half a dozen more pads. After that the Americans couldn't distinguish the incoming rounds from their own exploding ammunition.

Two crews got their helicopters off the ground but were knocked down by the exploding shells. A third helicopter was destroyed on the ground.

The 9th Division base has been shelled more than a dozen times during the enemy's spring offensive.

Scores of helicopters and hundreds of tons of ammunition and fuel have been lost, but the U.S. Command has never disclosed the exact amounts.

"They don't like us," said Col. Hunt. "We've killed 2,800 enemy troops so far this month."

South Vietnamese headquarters said five mortar rounds killed three children and wounded four soldiers in Quang Tri City, 19 miles below the demilitarized zone.

More ground action also was reported along the northern frontier.

U.S. Marines and Army tanks were credited with killing 34 North Vietnamese soldiers along the southern edge of the buffer zone. Two Americans were reported killed and 10 wounded.

American forward observers reported another 10 North Vietnamese soldiers in the southern half of the DMZ near the coast at dusk Tuesday. The observers called in artillery fire and said they sighted seven bodies afterward.

At the other end of the DMZ near the Laotian frontier, U.S. Marines on Operation Maine Crag dug up another 400 tons of rice, bringing to 1,000 tons the total haul of North Vietnamese food in the past four days. This is enough to feed 14,000 enemy troops for a sustained offensive of three months.

In four brisk fights north and south of Saigon Tuesday, American forces killed 95 enemy soldiers, spokesmen said, while U.S. losses were four killed and eight wounded.

Reports Coming Up At Charter Panel

Preliminary reports from six committees of the Home Rule Commission are scheduled to be presented tonight at the commission's meeting at 7:30 o'clock in the council chambers at City Hall.

Neil Chapman, chairman, said reports on public improvements; planning and zoning; nominations and elections; initiative, referendum and recall; franchises, and business licensing are on the agenda.

The public is invited to attend.

'Mail Users' Council Meet Is Thursday

The first meeting of a newly-formed State Fair Area Mail Users Council will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Sedalia post office, Postmaster Maurice Hogan announced today.

The meeting will be held in the Civil Service examining room on the mezzanine.

The council was formed, in line with a nationwide effort to improve postal service, of civic and business leaders in the community, to meet regularly with postal managers to discuss methods of obtaining better postal service.

The State Fair Area Council is a part of an expansion program after this method proved effective in large cities. Some 100 mailers in this area are members. The council is made up of Sedalia, Warrensburg, Marshall, Windsor, Warsaw and Sweet Springs. Hogan is postmaster coordinator.

Peru Problem Is Unresolved

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Prospects appear increasingly dim for settlement of the dispute between the United States and Peru over the expropriation of an American oil refinery.

President Nixon's special envoy, John N. Irwin, and his aides refuse to comment on the progress of their talks with Peruvian leaders. But a deepening sense of despair is detected among American officials here.

Although the talks so far have been cordial, U.S. Embassy officials and other observers feel the military government is showing little inclination to compromise. The ruling generals each day appear to paint themselves deeper into a corner, with no face-saving way out.

The Lima government announced Monday that it had complied with its legal obligation to pay for the expropriated property by depositing in the national bank a check, written to IPC for $71 million, the value of the expropriated refinery in northern Peru as determined by independent assessors.

However, the government immediately seized the funds as payment toward the $690.5 million it claims from the company.

The Nixon administration is not expected to consider the embargoed check "effective payment" for the expropriated property.

The dispute between Washington and Lima results from Peru's expropriation last Oct. 9 of the refinery in Northern Peru owned by International Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Under the Hickenlooper Amendment, if a country does not compensate an American firm for expropriation of its property or enter into "meaningful negotiations" within six months of the expropriation, all U.S. aid to the country must be cut off.

Hairpin Repair Jobs Not Part of Future

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Most wives aren't thrilled by the prospect of a future in which most of their household tasks will be done by a computer. They realize that a computer, if it breaks down, is one machine they can't fix with a hairpin.

Accidental Actor In New Light

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Oscar nominee Jack Wild looks like an undersized jockey and talks like a cockney bookmaker.

At 4 feet 9, he has not yet reached the height of Mickey Rooney. But since he is 15, there is still hope. "Me Dad is tall but me Mom isn't," he explains.

In Carol Reed's highly entertaining "Oliver!" Jack Wild plays the Artful Dodger, and his was an inspired piece of type casting. Like Dickens' Dodger, Jack is glib, resourceful and fast on his feet.

He has been signed by NBC to be the only human actor in a new Saturday morning series, "H.R. Rufnstuf." Jack will undergo adventures on an island inhabited by the puppets of Sid and Marty Korfft.

Jack Wild is a London lad who came to acting quite by accident. He and his brother were playing in a park when a lady asked them if they would like jobs. "We already have jobs—helping the milkman," they replied. She replied that she meant real jobs, as actors in the stage version of "Oliver!"

"Me brother and I decided to try it as a giggle," Jack recalled.

He joined the musical cast, but in a minor role, not as the Artful Dodger. The part was then played by Leonard Whiting, who later took the role of the star-cross'd lover in the Franco Zeffirelli film, "Romeo and Juliet."

British laws concerning child actors are strict, and Jack could work only nine months in "Oliver!" He had to drop out for three months; he used the time for television appearances, then returned to the musical. During his second stand he was tapped for the film version.

When I visited the film set in the summer of 1967, there was an air of secrecy about it. Jack explained the reason:

"The law says kids under 12 can't work in pictures, and Mark Lester, who was playin' Oliver, was only 8. A lot of the other boys was under 12, too. So we had to keep it quiet.

"One day a bloke came in while we was washin' up and asked to take our pictures. 'Why not?' we said. When the company people found out about it, they went potty. They started to hunt for the bloke, and the Fagin boys was plannin' to jump him. But they caught him at the gate and took his film away."

Wasn't the "Oliver!" company breaking the law?

"Sure," said Jack Wild. "But everybody breaks the law."

Ann Landers

Wife Complains Of 'Dog's Life'

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has gone crazy over Golden Retrievers. He brought the third one home yesterday. Every evening after supper he goes out to run the dogs. I'm stuck in the house all day with two small children. At night I'm dying to hear an adult voice. And he goes out to fool around with animals.

Feeding those hounds is darned expensive. I could have had an ermine jacket with the money he has spent on dog food, shots and licenses these last two years. When I tell my husband he should get rid of the dogs and pay more attention to me and his sons, he says I'm a nag and to keep quiet because he won't do it.

I have discussed this with my mother, my two sisters, my aunt and the neighbors on both sides. They all agree I am right. What do you say? — DOG'S LIFE

Dear Life: You may have won the poll, kiddo, but you're going to lose the guy if you don't muzzle the complaints. Considering what some married men do for recreation you have little to complain about. Look to the day when your husband can take the boys hunting and kwitcherbeefin'.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old who wants to know how much of a say-so in my life my parents have.

According to law in this state an 18-year-old can leave home, get married, and work at any job. But my parents don't feel that I have the right to decide which college to attend.

They say that since they are paying the bills I must go to the college of their choice. It so happens I prefer another college. I say it is my future and my life and I am the one who will have to do the studying and make the grades. They say college is a privilege and I should be thrilled to go to any place they select.

I am willing to work my way through if necessary, but first I want you to tell me if my parents have the right to make the selection. If you think my folks are right I will rethink the question. — Independent Or Stubborn?

Dear Independent: The choice should be left to the student. Work your way through if you feel so strongly about it. You'll probably do better than if you go to a school you don't like. — expenses paid.

Dear Ann Landers: Mom is a nice person, works in the church, helps the relatives and neighbors, and is well thought of. But Mom is not what anybody would call a pretty woman.

When people say to me, "You look just like your mother," I become irritated. In the first place, I don't look like her. Our coloring is similar and my eyes are almond-shaped like hers, but to put it honestly, I am much better looking. I feel like a hypocrite saying "thank you." What can I say and still be truthful? — Lake Forest

Dear Lake: Your main problem is a case of galloping vanity. But since you insist on being brutally factual, try something noncommital such as, "I've been told that before..."

New Device to Help Pilots in Trouble

ARDEN, N.C. (AP) — Stencel Aero Corp. announced Monday development of a rescue system it says could carry a pilot in Vietnam to safety after his plane had been shot down.

Robert J. Manzuk, Stencel project engineer, said it's an ejection seat, equipped with jet engines, that can carry a pilot up to 50 miles at speeds of 85 miles per hour.

When the pilot bails out, engines in the ejection seat ignite and a parawing pops out of the back seat. The device can fly up to an altitude of 10,000 feet, Manzuk said. When the pilot reaches a safe area, he can jettison the seat and parachute down.

"Stencel has demonstrated the feasibility," Mazuk said, "and is now bidding to test it under field conditions."

Drug Store Owner Is Shot and Killed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A drug store owner was shot to death Tuesday night as he walked to his car after closing the store.

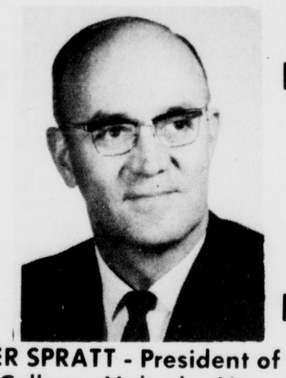

Police said Phillip A. Rabicoff, 55, of Overland Park, Kan., died on the way to the hospital after being shot in the head.

An older brother, Louis Rabicoff, 62, died at a Kansas City hospital earlier Tuesday of natural causes.

Police said the druggist was found about 50 feet from his car and although no one saw the shooting two persons reported hearing shots.

verse easily with those around him.

In their bulletin late Tuesday, his doctors said Eisenhower "has shown no deterioration in the last 24 hours, his condition continues to be critical." This was the first time they had used critical to describe his condition.

Earlier Tuesday, the doctors added to the gloomy outlook when they said it was impossible to predict whether the former president would recover from this latest setback in his 11-month battle against serious heart disease.

They did, however, temper their statement by adding that Eisenhower "has always shown remarkable recuperative power in past illnesses."

The medical bulletins have not been optimistic since doctors announced Monday the general had suffered his second serious congestive heart failure in little more than a week.

An encouraging sign Tuesday was the absence of a late night medical report as had been issued in days previous.

Doctors said Tuesday evening the general had rested comfortably during the day "despite persistence of evidences of congestive heart failure," a condition caused when the heart muscle is unable to pump a sufficient amount of blood through the body. This causes a congestion of blood in the lungs and other vital organs.

The hospital also said members of Eisenhower's immediate family had visited with him for brief periods tuesday.

Early in the day, the doctors' bulletin said Eisenhower's condition was "guarded" which they later explained, giving a dictionary definition as "cautious, wary."

Surtax

gress should share the responsibility by directing him where to make the reductions," Mansfield said.

Backers of the extension contend the surtax will produce an additional $10 billion in revenue, needed to head off an inflation-feeding budget deficit of unacceptable proportions in the next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Last year, Congress put a $180 billion limit on spending. Both Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy and budget Director Robert P. Mayo have said that next year they expect to hold spending below the $195.3 billion fixed in Johnson's last budget.

Both oppose a spending ceiling such as Mansfield proposed.

One of the prime reasons for enacting the surtax in the first place was to curb a growing inflation, as well as to help pay the costs of the Vietnam war.

The effect on inflation apparently hasn't been too strong so far, as evidenced by a Bureau of Labor Statistics report Tuesday that living costs in February jumped four-tenths of one per cent—the biggest increase in four months. The bureau said this more than wiped out increases in earnings.

Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told Congress, however, that the spending ceiling and the surtax were having an effect in curbing inflation.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford told reporters Tuesday the administration believes "we may have reached the high-water mark of inflation."

He predicted that living costs may not rise more than 3 per cent this year, compared to 5 per cent last year.

the selected candidate got less than 25 per cent of a convention ballot, if he personally freed them or if, for some other reason, he ceased to be a candidate for the nomination.

Rep. Buddy Kay, D-St. Louis, said the bill on voter registration was needed to eliminate election cheating. He said a special committee had been told that four years ago some people voted in one precinct after the other in Stoddard County.

The House also got into a confusing argument over a bill to let second class county courts set speed limits in congested areas of county roads. The way it finally wound up, Jasper, Buchanan and Clay counties were the only ones left out of the bill.

Government Representatives Answer Taxpayers' Questions

Sen. John Ryan and Rep. Joe Rains addressed a meeting of the Farm Bureau recently at the Farm and Home Building, concentrating on legislation already passed and bills still under consideration by the legislature.

The meeting was presided over by Paul Read, chairman of the legislative committee of the Farm Bureau. Seated at the head table were J. W. Fisher, Holden, chairman for 4th District, Farm Bureau Legislative chairman; John M. Sneed, Jr., Sedalia; and W. P. Nicholson, Farm Bureau Resolutions chairman.

Among the bills discussed was one on a 5-cent tax on utilities. Sen. Ryan pointed out that the state had taken off the sales tax in order to attract more industry and then this tax would have raised the amount two cents more. It wasn't practical, he said.

Another bill was for aid for private schools. This would be a supplemental school bill on a 50-50 basis and it would cost $45 million to finance it. Sen. Ryan said the bill would not be let out of committee until there is enough money to finance it.

This bill was introduced by Sen. Blackwell who combined it with another bill, a manufacturers tax from two to five cents Sen. Ryan said. This bill will go to the House for approval and amendment. If the bill is passed the money cannot be used for any other purpose.

Rep. Rains told of the budget, which he said was cut after every item was given individual consideration.

Rep. Rains explained that the legislators feel that they should know where the money is going and not just let it be spent at random. The people have to rely on the responsible men in the legislature, he said.

When questioned about the pensions, Rep. Rains said that the state pays four per cent and legislators pay four per cent. If a man has served 15 years, at the age of 60 he will receive a pension. If he does not serve that long he will get his money back. Speaking of the legislative pay raise, they commented that hotels, meals, everything had gone up and that was the reason for the raise in salaries.

Another bill discussed was the 5-cent cigarette tax which would bring $30,000 a year. Sen. Ryan said it had passed the Senate and now goes to the House.

The feeling on the question of roads was that the county should take the responsibility of caring for their own roads. They would like to eliminate the 12 Mile Road District, some of the Farm Bureau members stated.

The surtax was discussed, and Sen. Ryan stated that he felt that each city and town should be taxed equally. He felt that the cities should take care of their own but there should be a law to give Kansas City and St. Louis the opportunity to do what they need to do.

There has been much talk on protests, said Senator Ryan, "I think the taxpayers are getting to the place where they are protesting. There are all kinds of taxes and they are tired of it. When the public becomes concerned then something is done," he said.

Both men felt that 18-year-olds should be allowed to vote but should assume the responsibility that goes with it.

Both men were against liquor sale on Sunday. Both were in favor of a 60 per cent majority to pass bond issues.

Present at Meeting

State Aid For Housing Approved

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — State aid for public housing and a special cigarette tax for Jackson County were two of nearly a dozen measures approved by legislative committees Tuesday night.

The House Municipal Corporations Committee approved a bill to let the state contribute up to $20 per month to tenants in public housing who are on fixed incomes.

The committee amended it, however, restricting the housing authorities from charging a rent over 25 per cent of the tenant's income. It would apply statewide.

Fixed incomes, according to Rep. James Troupe, D-St. Louis, are payments like welfare, Social Security or Aid to Dependent Children. Troupe co-sponsored the bill with Rep. Paul J. Simon, D-St. Louis.

The committee held over a similar bill by the same sponsors. It would have allowed the state to pay up to $30 per month per unit to public housing authorities in Kansas City and St. Louis.

Irvin Dagen, director of the St. Louis Public Housing Au- testified Tuesday night, urging the committee to consolidate the two measures.

The Senate Local Governments Committee aplroved a bill to let Jackson County levy a cigarette tax to be used for maintaining juvenile detention facilities.

It could not exceed 5 cents per package.

other bills approved would:

Let St. Louis city increase its motor vehicle license fee.

Let Kansas City issue general revenue or general obligation bonds to build munitipal parking facilities.

Include employes of municipal utility systems in the state retirement program.

NEW YORK (AP) — Commenting on the modern American scene, the noted Trappist monk and author, Thomas Merton, says, "We have hated our need for compassion and suppressed it as a 'weakness' and our cruelty has far outstripped our sense of mercy."

Reject Armed Guard Idea To Prevent New Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has rejected the use of military armed guards to ride shotgun on commercial airliners to prevent hijackings because the potential dangers to passengers and crew are too great.

"The potential danger to the lives of all persons aboard the aircraft, due to possible death or injury to the crew or critical damage to the aircraft itself, will greatly limit the effective use of (the guard's) firearm," officials said.

Also, the Defense Department said, the use of a gun or physical force to deal with a hijacker holding a hostage "is extremely difficult in the cramped quarters of a commercial airliner without placing the life of the hostage in extreme jeopardy."

The suggestion for armed guards was made by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, a Pentagon spokesman said, in the wake of many hijackings of airliners to Cuba.

The Defense Department considered the proposal of furnishing Marines or other military guards on planes carrying government personnel in possession of military secrets.

In addition to the safety factor, the Pentagon said "the size of the Marine guard force required to ride the aircraft involved would be very large" because of the many military and civilian personnel having highly classified information travelling on commercial planes.

The Defense Department also noted that "discussions would have to be undertaken with many countries before the United States could authorize the use of armed military guards aboard U.S.-registered aircraft traveling to foreign countries."

It dismissed the idea of transporting classified matter only on government planes, saying this would require possible establishment of a military mail service and an "immense logistic effort."

"There is no evidence that Cuba authorities have tampered with U.S. mail aboard any hijacked aircraft to date," the Pentagon said.

Denker's Premise Is Valid

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Denker, a veteran radio and television writer, has in recent years become a drop-out.

It was the strict limitations surrounding series writing that sent him to motion pictures and the stage.

"It is most unsatisfying to write about characters who can never die, can never really be hurt, and to work things out so that everything will be smooth and happy at the end of 30 minutes or an hour," he said.

"There can be no realism in television series. And there can be no surprises. That audience doesn't like surprises, so you can never really vary the routine although you must pretend to be different."

This viewer put the Denker premise to a casual test Tuesday night.

First there was "Mod Squad" on ABC. This was an episode that had Sammy Davis Jr. playing a militant Catholic priest who has been suspended by his bishop because of his involvement in civic affairs. Somebody has threatened the priest's life, and the police presume it was related to his slum activities. But it wasn't—it was the brother of a murderer who thought the priest would testify in court about words spoken in a religious confession.

Along the way, one of those three attractive youngsters who are undercover cops was knocked out. But we knew he wasn't badly hurt: he is one of the continuing leads and has to be up and around next week.

Then came "It Takes a Thief," which had supercrook Al Mundy assigned by the secret federal agency to crack a tough safe that contains a little black book which lists the names of the nation's top gangsters and evidence of their crimes. And, by golly, he got the book in plenty of time for the final commercial and they told us all the crooks were on their way to jail.

After that came "The Doris Day Show," a barrel of fun because Doris was baby-sitting for the four children of absent friends. It was really a scream when those little monsters did everything from throwing a bag of marbles into the dishwasher to pouring a bottle of shoe black into the baby's bubble bath. And you should have seen Doris with her face all blacked up—and you should have heard that laugh track.

If one thoroughly unscientific survey is any indication, the Denker premise is pretty valid. Denker, who has five Broadway plays—including "A Case of Libel"—a number of films and several books to his credit, has been attracted to television again, but only for a one-shot original drama, "The Choice," to be broadcast next Sunday in NBC's "On Stage" series.

It is the story of a surgeon and two patients who can live only if heart transplant operations are performed. The surgeon has only one heart available.

"It is now a fact of life," said Denker, "and there are about 100,000 patients for about 150 hearts. The operation itself touches all sorts of areas of morality and conscience.

"Television, thank goodness, has again opened its doors to original drama and the writers have a chance to do some fresh, new thinking. That's all to the good."

CBS has a report of a contemporary commercial fishing expedition on its news hour. But even if the film was all dressed up with Herman Melville's words in "Moby Dick" and full of philosophical musings by the fishermen, the scenes of men shooting and clubbing sea creatures and birds were painful experience for some viewers.

Priests Open Talks On Issues

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The National Federation of Priests' Councils (NFPC) wound up routine convention business speedily to move into open debate today on the Roman Catholic issues of contraception, celibacy and defecting priests.

The Rev. Patrick O'Malley of Chicago, NFPC president, said there was no plan to bring up specific issues when the meeting was opened to the 250 delegates for resolutions on any subject.

But the delegation from Washington, D.C., composed of two priests whose cardinal ordered them out of their rectories last fall for saying Catholic spouses could follow their consciences in using contraceptives, intended to push for clear-cut federation statements on that moral question and others.

The Rev. Joseph O'Donoghue, backed by his colleague the Rev. John Corrigan, had complained when the three-day national convention began Monday that none of the "grave crises we face" in current church life was included on the convention agenda.

The federation, formed less than a year ago, has been generally moderate in its approach to Catholicism's internal turmoil.

The delegates Tuesday night went into separate geographic regional caucuses to talk over the positions they would take once free debate started.

Several resolutions prepared by NFPC committees in advance of the convention were defeated in voting at a session that lasted until late Tuesday.

One was a resolution calling for the Pope to name an American prelate, in place of one from Italy, as the apostolic delegate—or papal liaison man with the U.S. bishops—in Washington.

A resolution supporting the creation of civilian police review boards in U.S. cities was defeated on the grounds that an organization of priests should not get involved.

The Earl of Leicester entertained Queen Elizabeth I of England at Kenilworth Castle for 19 days in July 1575. Clocks stopped when she arrived. Guns saluted, fireworks flared and 320 casks of beer slaked the guests' thirst. Amid halloos of huntsmen, Elizabeth hunted deer with bow and arrow.

Pony Express Rider Hits Trail Again

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP) — A horse and rider carrying mail thundered through the streets of this Jersey meadows town of 13,000 Tuesday as the Chamber of Commerce sought to drive home its complaint that the service provided by the regular mails is too slow.

A spokesman for the chamber, which contends that it sometimes takes four days for mail to get from one part of town to another, said the rider would take to the streets again today.

The law forbids him to carry first-class mail, so the modern-day pony express rider will carry newsletters from the chamber to its members.

Jury May See Last RFK View

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A film of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's last speech-acknowledging victory in the California Democratic presidential primary before a joyous crowd—may be shown to the jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for murder.

Kennedy had just finished the speech in the Ambassador Hotel, shouted "On to Chicago," and was moving to another room to meet with newsmen when he was mortally wounded by Sirhan early last June 5.

The state said it will try to introduce the 15-minute film as rebuttal to defense claims that Sirhan became enraged by Kennedy's advocacy of more arms for Israel.

Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a psychiatrist scheduled to undergo cross-examination today, testified Sirhan told him under hypnosis that he hated the New York senator because he made a campaign promise to send U.S. jets to Israel.

"It would be important for the jury to see that Kennedy did nothing that night to rekindle the flame," said Lynn D. Compton, deputy district attorney. "It was an innocuous speech."

Grant B. Cooper chief defense counsel, said he would object to having the film introduced.

"There is no suggestion by the defense that the speech decided him to shoot the senator," said Cooper. "There is nothing in the record to indicate Sirhan even heard the speech."

Diamond, a professor of medicine, law and criminology at the University of California, Monday described Sirhan as self-programmed to assassinate Kennedy.

Cooper said Diamond would be followed by only two more witnesses for the defense, both psychologists: Georgina Sewart of the University of Southern Calinornia and George deVos of the University of California. Their testimony, Cooper said, would take less than an hour each and the defense expects to rest its case Thursday.

The trial is in its 12th week.

Chemical Engineers Get The Biggest Salaries

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Prospects in business for this year's bachelor degree candidates are more numerous and often more financially rewarding than ever before —if the draft doesn't come first.

The biggest salaries seem to be going to chemical engineering grads, followed closely by four other engineering groups: electrical, mechanical, metallurgical and aeronautical. Salaries for accountants are rising fast.

The number of job offers for master's and doctoral candidates may be somewhat lower this year, although it also may be too early to detect a trend. Some master's candidates in business report $12,000-a-year-offers.

Not only are initial prospects good, but chances for relatively early promotion into managerial jobs is almost assured by some companies badly in need of young executives. Thirty-year-old vice presidents are common now.

The College Placement Council, Inc., of Bethlehem, Pa., notes a sharp increase in offers to bachelor degree candidates through mid-February, from 10,824 in 1968 to 12,248 this year.

For those seeking or holding advanced degrees the story seems a bit different. CPC reports only 1,762 offers at the master's level compared with 1,780 a year ago and 2,577 two years ago.

For doctoral candidates the number of offers declined to 459 from 485 a year ago and 592 two years ago.

This decline is not easily interpreted, for the egghead is now well established in business. A survey made two years ago of 4,500 managers by Executive Register, a New York personnel company, concluded that one in four hold's a master's degree.

At the time of the survey, Shell Oil Co. had 680 Ph.D.s, and Scott Paper Co.'s management included 35 doctors and 178 masters, or double the number of six years earlier.

A survey just released by the Bureau of National Affairs, Inc., a private researcher and publisher of business and professional information based in Washington, D.C., shows a salary offers 5 to 6 per cent higher than a year ago.

It lists these as typical of the money offers to bachelor degree candidates: science, $9,184, up $363 in one year; business, $8,212, up $516; and liberal arts, $7,778, up $401.

Lest too much significance be attached to these increases, please note that the cost of living also rose by roughly the same amount. In some fields, however, the increases far outmatched rises in living costs.

Of 230 personnel and industrial relations executives queried in the BNA survey, 43 per cent said draft status was a consideration.

Odd Fellows Home Member of Board

Oliver Blankenship, 1014 East Sixth, has been appointed a member of the board of the International Order of Odd Fellows Home, Liberty.

Blankenship and his wife visited the home Sunday, at which time the board inspected the home, cemetery and other buildings.

After the tour, members were served a meal in the main dining room, with the home residents.

He Wins Anyway

COLBERT, Okla. (AP) — Ollie Weger didn't get his foot race, but he turned out to be a winner after all.

Last week the 67-year-old Weger tied with incumbent W. W. Brockett, 68, in the election for a seat on the Colbert City Council. Each received 118 votes.

Weger proposed a foot race to decide the winner, but the Bryan County Election Board pointed out that the law says such situations must be settled with a lottery.

People In The News

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Rev. Ian Paisley, moderator of the Free Presbyterian church, has lost an appeal against six months in jail for his part in civil rights clashes with Roman Catholics last autumn.

Locked up with him Tuesday was his top aide, Maj. Ronald Bunting, after rejection of their bid to void their convictions on charges of unlawful assembly.

The disorders arose from claims by Northern Ireland's Catholic minority that they are victims of discrimination in jobs, housing and voting regulations.

NEW YORK (AP) — Andre Kostelanetz, the conductor, and his wife, Sara, have filed court notice of their separation after eight years of marriage.

Kostelanetz and singer Lily Pons, who were married 20 years, were divorced in 1958.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Gia Scala and her husband, Donald Burnett, separated after 10 years of marriage, have made a court agreement under which he will pay her $800 a month pending trial of her divorce action.

Under the arrangement formalized Tuesday, Miss Scala, 35, will have sole use of their Hollywood home.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton was given a tribute Tuesday in City Council. A resolution adopted unanimously noted Skelton recited America's pledge of allegiance on his television show last Jan. 14 "with dignity, humility and simplicity."

Hypodermic Needles Located by Police

BOSTON (AP) — Police said they found about five million hypodermic needles and syringes Tuesday in a closed warehouse in East Boston.

The building, once owned by a manufacturer of surgical instruments, was purchased earlier this month by the Massachusetts Port Authority.

Police searched the building after learning it was the source of needles found in possession of drug suspects.

Femininity and Fashion in Spring Hats

Pretty girl look . . . Actress Yvette Mimex chooses (from left to right) windswept brim panama with flowing polka dot silk scarf; big-brimmed crushable yellow felt cowboy accented by gold loop chain band; Scarlett O'Hara hat of shiny black sewn straw with back grosgrain bow and blue paisley railroad engineer's cap with matching scarf.

NEW YORK (AP) — Femininity, not frills. Fashion, not fads.

That's what millinery designers have offered American women for spring.

Hats from almost all designers are soft and easy fitting, designed to suggest, not shout, a woman's personality and mood.

Most popular materials are felt, straw and silk which appear in every style of hat — fedora, roller, beret, cloche and cowboy.

Although designers such as Halston, Adolfo and Yves St. Laurent borrow ideas from men's hats, particularly for bonnets to be worn with pants suits, they provide feminine touches in brims, cut and trim.

Halston, for example, takes the basic cowboy hat, makes it in soft, crushable yellow felt, adds a big brim — tilted up in back, down in front — and finishes it all off with a tiny gold chain for a band.

A stiff-brimmed Spanish sailor hat in black felt, also by Halston, has a silken cord around the high crown and gives a girl all the romance of old Spain.

Even the grenadier's cap looks more at home on a girl than a guard when it's made by Archie Eason of navy blue felt with white cording knotted at the front of the crown and ending in a chin tie.

Several Panama-style hats, including one by Frank Oliver, are softened by tilting brims and draping the crown with silk scarves, which trail down the wearer's back or wrap around her throat.

Even the old-fashioned railroad engineer has gone girlish, his cap designed to sit on chic heads. Halston does one with soft crown and short, up-tilted brim, all in a bandana print.

Not to be forgotten, of course, are the strictly-feminine styles — rollers with bows, enormous straws with huge, floppy brims and softly crushed berets.

Red, white and blue, as ever, are popular for spring, with some designers dubbing their creations the "nautical look" and others opting for the "American influence."

All of the hats are clearly meant to be coordinated with costumes.

Pants suits take cowboy or fedora styles of felt. Shirtwaists — newly popular this year — look just right with the garden party straws.

Broadway Circles Meet

Circles of the Broadway Presbyterian Church held their regular meetings with Chaffee Circle meeting at the home of Mrs. John M. Blue, 1610 West Fourth; Ako'o Circle meeting with Mrs. Emory Bowman and Valdez Circle meeting at the church with Mrs. Clyde Miller and Mrs. Lowell Hesterlee, hostesses.

The Bible lesson was "The Law of the Kingdom," which is the sermon on the mount, taken from the fifth chapter of Matthew. It was announced that the Presbyterial will be held April 18 and a noon luncheon will be served. Reservations are necessary and the cost is $1 per person.

Mrs. Lloyd Farris conducted the meeting of the Chaffee Circle and Mrs. Bess Cordry read from the Missionary Book of Prayer. Least Coin Service was conducted by Marian Merry. The Chaffee Circle is named for Clifford and Mary Chaffee, missionaries located at the Bible Training School in Bangkok, Thailand. A letter by Mrs. Lucille Blake, has been written to Ruth E. Willson advising of the change in names. Mrs. Blake presented the Bible lesson.

Two guests, Mrs. Mary Jane Mahoney and Mrs. Kenneth Swanson, attended the meeting of the Valdez Circle. Mrs. Wiley Booth gave the devotional and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst led the Bible lesson. Mrs. Alma Johnson read from the Missionary Book of Prayer and Mrs. Walter Banning conducted the Least Coin Service. The Show Must Go On

POWDER LINE

By Lynda Bernhardt

Mrs. Housewife has so many helpers these days it is somewhat overwhelming. I'm speaking of those packaged assistants who work behind the scenes.

By adding water to instant mixes you can prepare an entire meal from soup and main course to dessert. All this, plus disposable containers is designed to get you in and out of your over-heated torture chamber in minimum time.

Such wondrous feats do not end in the kitchen by any means.

Bio-cleaners soak your gravy-stained tablecloths and super sudsers attack collar rings. The magic these wonder workers perform makes you question if there will be anything left when they have finished their tasks.

No sooner is a new product released on the market than a new improved, super successor appears.

The fierce competition for your hard-earned, if somewhat deflated dollar, keeps manufacturers jumping to out do one another in making each product more concentrated and more powerful than the other.

These amaxing aids are designed to make our lives, wash, etc., brighter and we tend to be compulsive purchasers in order to have more leisure time and longer fingernails than our neighbor.

Ponder this if you will. What would we do should these merchandise marvels decide to turn on us? We may find outselves trapped between the kitchen counter and an ever-growing blob of instant cereal while wild enzymes run rampant in the washing machine.

The box bag makes a comeback this spring. This beauty in smooth white leather has a front inset of multicolored Persian print. It's by Murray Kruger.

Revive Your Complexion

Once upon a time it was the fashionable thing to gather up the first fresh strawberries, mix them with cool, foamy cream and use the concoction for a home facial.

It was messy and certainly a waste of delicate fruit because the facial offered limited benefits compared to our modern methods of skin care.

After the long winter, the facial tissues need perking up and happily the home facial saunas do the job easily and effectively.

After a warm mist treatment with the beauty machine which loosens deeply ingrained accumulations, helps shrink pore size and stimulates the facial tissues, a facial scrub is applied. This polishes the complexion, digs down to remove scaly, dry patches, and literally exposes a fresh new layer of skin. A few drops of freshener helps tone the newly cleansed complexion. Most manufacturers recommend a moisturizer next be applied. This preparation makes an excellent make-up base. An emollient is recommended for use at bedtime.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Pilots Consider Possible Strike

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned today that it may call a worldwide strike for 12 or 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished.

A resolution unanimously adopted by the federation's annual conference said it may also take these actions against nations that don't punish hijackers:

1. A ban on all air traffic into the country.

2. Coordinated action to restrict movement of the country's aircraft and to restrict movement of cargo to and from the country, either by air or surface.

The federation represents 70 per cent of the world's 6,500 airline pilots. The Soviet Union was represented by observers, but Cuba, the chief target of the resolution, was not represented.

Earlier, the conference adopted a resolution saying that the federations executive committee is authorized to impose a ban of flights into the offending state when it does not allow the crew of a hijacked plane to leave within 48 hours.

The resolution stressed that investigation of the hijacking "should not be used as a reason for detaining the crew by a country where the aircraft landed."

Another resolution emphasized that no bilateral air agreements between states should be made or renewed without strict provision for prosecution of hijackers or their return "to the state of registration of the aircraft or the state of the operator of the aircraft for prosecution."

Utah Miner Takes A Free Vacation

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — William (Buck) Jones, the 61-year-old miner who hit the headlines recently when he survived an eight-day ordeal trapped in a Lark, Utah mine, is on vacation.

Officials of the U.S. Smelting, Refining and Mining Co., offered Jones and his wife a week's vacation with all expenses paid—anywhere in the world.

Jones left earlier this week for the trip. And he selected southern Utah and Northern Arizona, just a few hundred miles away.

Israeli Jets Hit Arab Base Of Guerrillas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla base near the Jordanian town of Salt today, the army announced.

"A few planes went into action at 1430 (2:30 p.m.)," a spokesman said, and all returned unscathed.

Salt is 10 miles east of the Jordan River cease-fire line and about 15 miles west of Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Guerrilla bases around Salt came under heavy Israeli attack last summer. Israel charging the barren, stony area was packed with saboteurs staging raids against the Jewish state. Heavier military action has centered lately on the Suez Canal.

An authoritative military source said Egypt's Port Suez, at the southern end of the canal, appears to have been crippled by the four-hour Israeli artillery barrage in a duel with Egyptian batteries Monday.

The source said both oil refineries at the port were hit by Israeli guns. Port operations were severely reduced and the damage halted the flow of oil from the offshore Morgan field in the Red Sea, that supplies about 8.5 million tons of crude oil a year, two-thirds of Egypt's requirements.

Seek Funds For State Programs

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Money for state programs continued to be the main problem Tuesday in the Missouri House and Senate.

With Gov. Warren E. Hearnes keeping track of its progress from a nearby office, the House gave first round approval to an increase in individual and corporate income axes. It would yield about $72 million more per year.

A bill that would have brought in an additional $12 million was abandoned by its sponsor in the Senate when members chopped it down to an increase of less than $5 million per year. It was a bill to increase beer, wine and liquor taxes.

And the one-year windfall Hearnes wants got approval of the House Committee on Economics. It approved a bill to speed up collection of both income and sales taxes. The one-year increase would produce about $63 million.

The Senate Appropriations Committee got in the act, too. It approved an emergency money bill which includes $12 million for a new state office building in Jefferson City.

Claiming most of the attention Tuesday was a House vote, 90-71, to advance the income tax increase. A similar bill lost in the House by 20 votes last week.

Republicans opposed the measure because they said they wanted assurance the money would be spent for schools, welfare and higher education. Their protests were in vain.

"The beer and liquor lobbyists have done a good job," Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, said when that proposed increase fell by the way.

He said the Senate showed "It wants to mollycoddle the liquor industry" by cutting the taxes he proposed originally.

He said he hoped the Senate would be as quick to cut the budget bills when they reach the floor for debate.

Still pending in the Senate is Blackwell's bill to hike corporate income taxes from 2 to 5 per cent to produce about $50 million. It would not touch individual income tax rates.

Private Peace Talk Rumor Is Stronger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has given fresh impetus to the growing belief that the private talks he favors for ending the Vietnam war already are under way.

But in doing so, the President made it clear he wants to keep those talks—whether they actually have begun or are about to—as secret as possible.

"That kind of negotiation cannot take place in a goldfish bowl," Nixon told the National Association of Broadcasters Tuesday in an off-the-cuff speech.

The President, however, came to the convention obviously anxious to talk about private negotiations to end the war.

"I can tell you," he said, "that it is our conviction and our belief that it is through private talks with the North Vietnamese and others involved that the real progress toward peace will be made."

Nixon went on to say that if anyone in the administration is asked "as to whether private talks should begin, as to what has occurred, we will say nothing."

Although this seemed to indicate fullscale private negotiations were not actually now under way but were about to start, the President commented a little later on:

"We think we are on the right track, but we are not going to raise false hopes. We are not going to tell you what is going on in private talks."

Nixon's comments on secret negotiations were the first public remarks by an administration official since Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday that peace was being sought "not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

Laird declined to elaborate on the remark, made during a digression from questioning on missile defense.

The Nixon speech came just a few hours after South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said in Saigon that his government was ready for private meetings with the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Thieu's statement was viewed in Paris as only a slightly new element in that it was made openly.

ADC Mothers Want Clothing Money

DETROIT (AP) — About 25 mothers receiving aid to dependent children payments visited Detroit offices of the Michigan Department of Social Services Tuesday and demanded a spring clothing allowance for their children.

An official told the women that some money would be available. The present ADC budget allows $5 per child each month for clothing. The mothers contended $5 is not enough.

Militant Nun Barred From Teaching Job

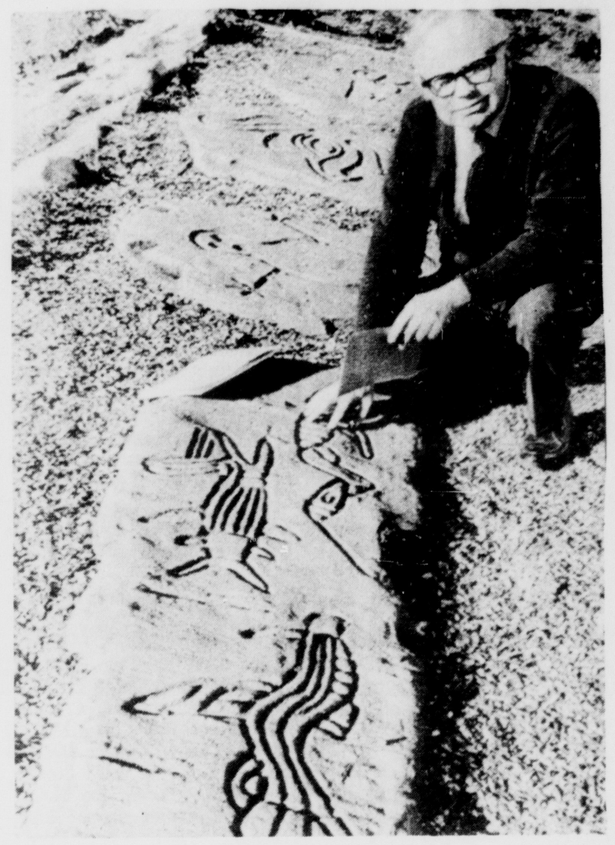

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A nun charged with destruction of property and burglary in Washington, D.C., was suspended Tuesday from her teaching job at Nerinx Hall High School in Webster Groves, a St. Louis suburb.

Sister Joann Malone, an instructor of religion at the school, was one of nine persons arrested Saturday in the break-in of the Dow Chemical Co. offices. Records were thrown out of windows and what looked like blood was smeared over walls.

The nine, including six Roman Catholic priests, have refused bond and said they will fast until Easter.

Sister Helen Jean Sidel, principal of the school, said Sister Joann's duties would be assigned to another faculty member "pending the disposition of the charges against her."

The school principal told a group of parents that the school recognized the individual's right to freedom of speech and action, but "it must deplore violence offered to persons or property in any form."

Party Must Decide On a Role for LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delicate question of what do with former President Johnson, plus the reluctance of some big names to serve are among the headaches facing Democratic National Chairman Fred Harris in his efforts to form a party advisory council.

Hubert H. Humphrey has been offered the job as head of the council. But he wants to keep his options open for a political comeback and has told party leaders he would take the job only temporarily, if at all.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield and other congressional leaders are reluctant to join hands with a group they feel may tread on their prerogatives in establishing a Democratic position in opposition to the Republican administration.

Mindful of the friction generated between a predecessor advisory council and the congressional leaders a decade ago, Mansfield said his present thinking in not to accept a place on the new group.

"I think I have a primary responsibility in the Senate," he said.

The Johnson problem arises because he would be serving in a group expected to produce policy statements in such volatil issues as the Vietnam war and the antimissile defense system.

So far Johnson has shown no interest in the policy council, ordered by the Democratic National Committee at its last session. But former associates do not expect Johnson's current disinterest in politics to last for long.

Humphrey says he is keeping his options open for a possible new bid for the presidential nomination in 1972 or for a 1970 race for senator or governor in Minnesota.

Harris, in an interviewing played down the likelihood of friction between the council and the congressional leaders that existed when Johnson, as the Senate leader, and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn fought with the advisory council during the Eisenhower years.

Harris said he is well aware of Humphrey's attitude. He said there had been suggestions that Johnson and Former President Truman be named honorary chairmen of the new group.

His idea, Harris said, is to bring in all elements of the party. He said specifically, he hopes that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the assistant Senate majority leader, would accept a place on the council.

Big Four Delegates To Confer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (AP) — After weeks of private discussion, th Big 4 delegates at the United Nations are ready to gather around the table and consider how to get a durable peace in the Middle East.

Some sources say the four-man talks, motivated more by fear of failure than by hope of success, will get under way next week.

President Nixon appears to be counting most heavily on Soviet cooperation to bring about a settlement that would give Nixon a major achievement in the foreign field. It also would be a big boost for Secretary-General U Thant and the United Nations.

The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France appear to agree that they should utilize Gunnar Jarring, Thant's special Middle East envoy.

Jarring, Sweden's ambassador to Moscow, has been trying since December, 1967, to get Israel and the Arabs to work out peace terms based on the U.N. Security Council's Nov. 22, 1967, resolution. The resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territory occupied during the 1967 war and Arab recognition of Israel as a sovereign state with defined frontiers.

Israel, however, has made clear it has no intention of giving up the Old City of Jerusalem, the Golan Heights in Syria and other strategic pieces of Arab real estate acquired in the war.

Folk Music For An Inauguration

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich (AP) — Central Michigan University will inaugurate its seventh president May 12 to the strains of folk music offered by Singer Buffy Saint Marie.

The money which would have been used in staging an elaborate inauguration for Dr. William Boyd will instead be used to start a fund to help disadvantaged students attend the school, said a member of the CMU board of trustees.

The board has also asked colleges and universities which would have sent representatives to the ceremony to instead use the money to help disadvantaged students on their own campuses.

Mike Quarry Wins Bout In Golden Gloves Event

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The scramble for championships narrows down to only four fighters in each weight division after tonight's quarterfinals in the 42nd National Golden Gloves Tournament.

Only two "name" fighters have survived the first two rounds in the gruelling four-day tournament which started Monday with nearly 300 fighters representing 31 regional teams.

One is Lorenzo Trujillo, the defending champion at 125 pounds who meets Dean Kromarek of Billings, Mont., tonight.

The other is Mike Quarry, a contender for the Gloves light heavyweight championship, who is a younger brother of world heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry.

Jerry, who Monday night defeated Buster Mathis in a New York City professional fight, was at ringside Tuesday night to cheer his brother on. Mike scored a unanimous decision over Douglas Moyle of Des Moines in the second round after drawing a first-round bye.

A second defending champion, Roy Dale of Cleveland at 165 pounds, lost his first-round match Tuesday on a decision to John Words of Kansas City.

The biggest upset, however, came at 156 pounds where John Baldwin, a bronze medal winner for the U.S. in the Mexico City Olympics, lost a split decision to John Brown of Detroit in the second round.

The decision prompted Robert "Pappy" Gault, coach of the Washington, D.C., team and the U.S. Olympic team, to file a protest. A grievance committee was scheduled to study the protest and make a ruling sometime today.

The sparse crowd of 4,000 in Municipal Auditorium got its top thrills from the heavyweights. Four of the eight second-round heavyweight matches ended in knockouts.

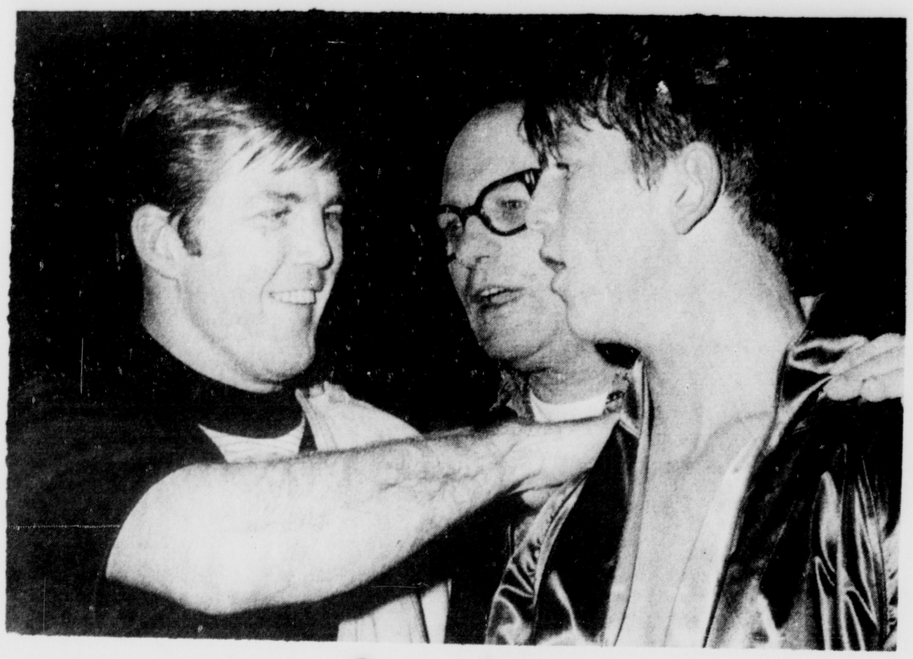

Nick Wells of Fort Worth scored the quickest kayo, decking Patrick Stewart of Des Moines in 48 seconds.

Jerry Quarry called his brother, Mike, "a real fine boxer, and very fast . . . maybe faster than me."

"I think he's got a chance to go somewhere in the pros," added Jerry, who scored five straight knockouts in the 1965 Golden Gloves tournament here to launch himself into a pro career.

In the team race, Cleveland led going into the quarterfinals with 11 points, while host Kansas City and Omaha each had 10. Los Angeles and Salt Lake City were tied for fourth with 9 each. Then came Minneapolis, Cincinnati, Washington and Elizabeth, N.J., with 8 apiece.

Semifinals and finals will be fought Thursday night.

L-Club Sponsors All-Star Game

By Bette Patterson

Friday evening the Smith-Cotton High School L-Club will sponsor the annual Faculty-All Star Basketball Tournament at 7 p.m. in the Physical Education and Fine Arts Building. This year's event will see three games instead of the traditional single game feature. Contests between the junior all-stars and the senior all stars, faculty vs. faculty, and a run-in between the winners of the two games will produce the '69 champions.

The first cage tilt will find the Junior Jivers competing against the Senior Sonics. Members of the Jivers are juniors David Rages, Nick Fowler, Steve Eck, Rick Fitzwilliams, Roy Clark, Charlie Snyder, John Ball, Rick Thompson, Bobby Geotz, Mike White, Bob Paxton, Don Simon, Larry Weise, and Terry Hudson with student coaches Bob Logan and Jim Lewis. The Sonics feature seniors John Rissler, Glenn Holmes, Jack Tallon, Tim Riney, Kent Cordry, Joe Gay, Tom Brown, Scott Schumaker, Rob Owen, Claude Knight, Don Crank, David Miller, Ron Keyes, Mike Herbst, Lanny Maness, Dale Wilson, Robert Cruse, Steve Cain, Dennis Bruns, and Mike Dalton with senior coaches Skip Tornquist, Dave Nash, Pete Greene, and Bill Woolery. Cheerleaders for the two teams will include Jan Banaka, Marilyn Gibson, Diana Wimer, Jaky Deck, and Sue Cook for the junior cagers; Sally Shoemaker, Joyce Rundlett, Robin Rader, Dee Smith, Linda Semkin, and Debbie Pelham backing the senior boys squad.

The games will be played in regularion time with referees. Played on an 8-3-8 time schedule, the eight minute first half, followed by a three minute break and a concluding eight minute finish will be refereed by Dale Brown and Charles Spradling.

Hotshots vs. Hackers

The second contest will see the two faculty teams, the Hotshots and the Hackers compete for the semi-finalist honors in their division. The Hotshots include faculty members Jim Shepard, Earl Finley, Bob Edmondson, David Backer, Skip Shulz, Larry Smithson, Paul Schwartz, and Charles Ledgerwood with Harry Browder as manager.

The opposing team, the Hackers, will consist of Dwight Walker, Robert Reavis, Larry Whiteside, Morris Byrum, Bill Rose, and player-coach, Wes Sanders. This encounter will also be in 8-3-8 timing.

During the 15-minute intermission, the senior class will present a skit coordinated by Sally Robertson, head varsity cheerleader, centering around the appearance of S-C's own Tiny Tim, portrayed by faculty member, Don Lamm, Jr. The halftime ceremonies will conclude with the traditional L-Club presentation to the school by Lanny Maness, president of the Lettermen's Club.

The championship game will follow in modified timing between the previously victorious All Stars. The finals will be played in five minute quarters with one minute breaks and a three minute half.

Tickets are being sold by all members of the L-Club and can be obtained at the door at 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. Proceeds from the event will go to the school's general fund for operational purposes.

Dixon Basketball Stars Top List

COLUMBIA — The Missouri State High School Activities Association has named the 1968-69 Class S, M, and L All-State High School Basketball Teams.

Only one basketballer in the state was a unanimous choice this season. John Brown of the state champion Dixon High School team was named on every ballot in the voting for Class "M" honors.

The 6'7" Brown has been sought after by many college basketball coaches this year, hoping to entice him to their respective quintets for future intercollegiate play.

Randall Irvin, another standout performer and teammate of Brown's at Dixon, was also named to the all-state list.

Bill Laurie, hot shooting guard from Versailles, reaped state honors this season as a junior for Coach Charlie Rogers' Tigers.

Jay Ware, four year starter for Pleasant Hill, was another area star basketball player to be named.

Ware and Brown both were named for the second year in a row on the All-State Team. Eric Thompson, Bill Daake, Charley Johnson, and Jim Sterns were also named for the second year in succession.

Elvin Hayes Leads NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvin Hayes, the Big E of San Diego, became the first rookie in nine years to win the individual scoring championship of the National Basketball Association.

Final statistics released by the league today showed the 6-foot-9 star scored 2,327 points in 82 games for an average of 28.4.

Not since Wilt Chamberlain, then with Philadelphia, did it in 1960 has a rookie won the NBA scoring title. Chamberlain scored 2,707 points in 72 games that season.

Hayes beat Earl Monroe of the Eastern Division champion Baltimore Bullets. Monroe had 2,065 points in 80 games.

Tiger's Tennis Matches Begin on Delayed Basis

By Sally Robertson

Coach Foster McGuire's boys' and girls' tennis teams will face Clinton in Smith-Cotton's first match of the season Thursday at Clinton. The contest will begin at 4 p.m.

Because of rainy weather and the postponement of the first scheduled match Monday afternoon, S-C's squads will be playing for the first time. Practice has been slack because of the rain and has not permitted the completion of the elimination matches in which the two teams had previously been engaged. Due to this unforeseen circumstance, the contests Thursday will see the returning letterwomen and lettermen taking part in most of the action. Their experience in previous years will compensate for the loss of practice.

Last year when the S-C teams traveled to Clinton, the girls' team returned home with a 5-1 victory over Clinton's girls, while the S-C boys secured a tie score of 3-3.

Coach McGuire commented on the upcoming matches: "The weather is really hindering us in regard to practicing. There are some girls and boys who are playing on the team for the first time this year and need to practice more than the weather has permitted, before they actually participate in a match. Because of this, I will be playing, for the most part, the boys and girls who lettered last year, and who have had at least a year's experience of competition. As the season advances, however, these beginners will have ample time to participate in upcoming matches."

Royals Snap Streak By Blanking Bosox

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) Rookie lefthander Bill Butler allowed only one baserunner in five innings Tuesday and the Kansas City Royals snapped a six-game losing streak with a 4-0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Rain stopped the game after five innings.

George Thomas' leadoff single in the third was the only blot against Butler's record.

The 22-year-old fireballer struck out three and walked none.

Thirdbaseman Joe Foy singled and crashed a two-run homer off his former teammate, Lefty Ken Brett.

The Royals wound up with five hits, including Jerry Adair's run-scoring double in the third and Hawk Taylor's RBI single in the fourth.

Foy connected in the fifth for his home run.

Angels' Future Brighter

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney of the California Angels may not be as openly optimistic as his general manager. But things are looking up for the Angels, which is about the only direction to look after the team's eighth place finish last year, just a tick or two out of the American League basement.

Dick Walsh, new front-office boss, has visions of winning the Western Division title and regards the Minnesota Twins as the team to beat.

Rigney, in his 14th year as a major league pilot and ninth with the Angels, says he has four positions set for 1969, plus what he believes will be effective pitching.

The fight for the so-called open jobs is interesting rather than worrisome.

The established players lead off with an excellent keystone combination of Jim Fregosi at shortstop and Bobby Knoop at second.

Aurelio Rodriguez retains his hold at third base and Rick Reichardt is the man in left field.

Vic Davalillo appears to have an edge for right field but Bill Voss, acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox for Sammy Ellis last January, and Jarvis Tatum, who spent most of last year at El Paso, Tex., are making a run for it.

In the same fashion, Jay Johnstone might well be the regular center-fielder. Rigney also has other outfielders, such as Roger Repoz, Bubba Morton and Chuck Hinton, to juggle around.

Speaking of juggling, a talent Rigney possesses, he has weighty decisions to make involving first base and catching.

Tom Satriano is an established catcher who can also play most any position on the field, including first base. To make the matter more complex, the Angels hope young Tom Egan can take over the catching. Also, Bob Rodgers, the original Angel catcher, is still around..

If Satriano goes to first, he'll find it quite crowded. Two real veterans, Dick Stuart and Bob Chance, are desperately trying to stay alive. Either or both may make it.

The Angels' starting pitchers at this stage include George Brunet, Jim McGlothlin, Tom Murphy and Andy Messersmith.

Rich Clark, Clyde Wright, Rudy May and Minnie Rojas are bidding for the fifth spot and the bullpen has, among others, those old masters of the knuckleball, Hoyt Wilhelm and Eddie Fisher.

Bucks Announce

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks—to no one's surprise—announced Tuesday their first-round draft pick will be towering Lew Alcindor of UCLA.

The expansion Bucks finished last in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and got the crack at obtaining Alcindor's services by listening to Phoenix make the wrong call when a half dollar was tossed.

Phoenix, also an expansion club, finished last in the West.

"We're convinced the young man is going to play in organized professional basketball and so we'll go after him," John Erickson, the Bucks' general manager, said Tuesday.

Dory Funk Posts Win In Match

Convention Hall hosted the World's Champion, Dory Funk Jr., Tuesday night in a big wrestling card. Funk outlasted his opponent, Tornado Murdock, in a best of three falls main event.

Murdock won the first fall, but Funk came back in the second and third to post the victory, both times used a step over toe hold.

Ronnie Etchison and Rudy Martin tangled with the Great Mephistos in the semi-final, tag team event.

Mephisto No. 2 made use of a pile driver and press to defeat Etchison in the first fall, but Etchison got revenge in the second fall when he used an abdominal stretch on Mephisto No. 2 to take the second fall.

Martin fell victim in the third and deciding fall to Mephisto No. 1; the pile driver and press was the technique used once again by the Mephisto team.

In the special event, Bob Brown made an unsuccessful return to Convention Hall when young Bruce Kirk won the affair on Referee Dick Moody's disqualification awarded the match to Kirk.

The opening match ended in a draw; neither Mephisto No. 1 nor Ronnie Etchison could muster a decision.

Postponement

COMERION, Italy (AP) — Promoters have asked for a postponement of the European welterweight championship bout Monday between Italian titleholder Silvano Bertini and French challenger Jean Josselin.

Bertini has gone back to Florence where his wife, Carla, gave birth to twins. One of the twins died shortly after birth.

S-C Baseball Season Opener vs. Columbia

The Smith-Cotton Varsity baseball team, coached by "Skip" Schulz, will play Columbia Thursday in a make-up game previously scheduled for Tuesday afternoon. The game will begin at 5:00 at the Liberty Park stadium.

Due to the rainy weather and the postponement of a double header and a single game, the Tigers will be playing for their first time this season. In last year's S-C versus Columbia season alone, S-C edged out Columbia with a total of three wins compared to Columbia's two victories. The last game played between Sedalia and Columbia Hickman was the sectional tournament, which Sedalia won 3-2. This sent the black and gold to the regionals and eventually to Springfield for the state semi-finals where they placed third in the state.

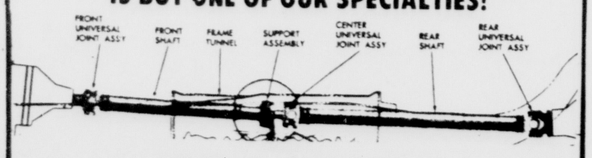

Coach Schulz commented about the upcoming contest: "We had a good season with Columbia last year and were able to beat them in the overall game scores by one game. I know of four boys who will be playing again this year for Columbia compared to our six returning lettermen. If Hickman comes back with many more returning ball players, though, it could cause a difference in the game score. However, I'm still depending on the experience my boys have gained from previous years to take them through this contest."

Sews Unique Poncho From Leftover Materials

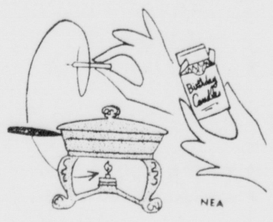

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I utilized a lot of leftover yarn for making a poncho. I made 32 five-inch squares and four triangles, each half the size of a square. These triangles were used to fill in around the big square left for the neck. I sewed the squares all together, then crocheted around the neck and outer edges and put fringe all around the four sides of the big square. The pattern I made up for the squares was a combination of stockinette and garter stitches. It all went together beautifully. Any desired pattern could be used for making such squares.—NAOMI

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My husband and I recently purchased a house with oak floors that have several large black spots. Someone tells us these were caused by putting wet diapers on them. Have any of the readers had this problem and solved it?—JEAN

DEAR POLLY—Did you ever have a candle that was used under a fancy casserole dish or coffee pot burn down so low you could not light it? Just take a little birthday candle, set it in the middle of the candle's melted wax and it works like magic. This can be replaced time and time again.—B. T. S.

DEAR POLLY—In every bedroom closet, I put a plastic clothes basket on the floor. Do this and you should never find dirty clothes hanging up in the closets, on the closet floor or even on the bedroom floor.—PEGGY

DEAR POLLY—Thrifty homemakers, save the fringe off of a discarded bedspread and sew it on to that stingy-looking dust mop. It is most effective.—AMY G.

Official Gets Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Charles J. Blanford of Scarsdale, N.Y., a veteran track and field official, was chosen Wednesday by the Track Writers Association of New York to receive its meritorious service award.

Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was the only American Leaguer to play in all of his team's games last season.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

10-The Bad Hole

Nothing destroys attitude like a bad hole. Golf after two consecutive birdies may seem the world's greatest sport. After a triple bogey, however, it becomes a leading candidate for the worst.

This abrupt switch in attitude also often changes what might have been a decent round into a horrendous experience. And it shouldn't happen.

A deterministic outlook helps. So does patience. I have learned to give myself a little lecture:

"Well, it has happened . . . maybe everybody's going to make a double bogey today and mine came here . . . so mine's over and done with . . . I'm not going to have another one."

It takes maybe 10 seconds but it's worth it. If you don't, it's absolutely going to tear you to pieces for the ensuing holes. I found this out.

I'd go to the next tee and I'd be so hot that my concentration left me completely. I was thinking about what had happened and, as a result, two or three holes would slip by and I'd probably pick up a couple more bogeys.

The secret is to go ahead and tee the ball up like nothing had happened. This is easy to say, of course, but it has taken me several years now to develop this ability. And it's not 100 per cent foolproof yet.

This is what happens to young kids who shoot 73 one day and 80 the next. If you'll look at their scorecard, you'll probably find they had one bad hole and—instead of settling down and trying to make the best of the round—lost their concentration.

BJ League Will Remain The Same

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Central Missouri Ban Johnson League will remain a seven team league for the coming season, it was decided at a meeting in Boonville Sunday.

Seven clubs that made up the league in 1968 will return defending champion Jefferson City, Boonville, Columbia, Marshall, Tipton, Centralia and Sedalia.

Van Reid, Marshall, was re-elected president of the group. Ray Shilharvey, Centralia, replaced Toni Antimi, Columbia, as vice president. Other officers are Lloyd Carter, Tipton, treasurer; Charles Persinger, Boonville, secretary, and Jim Vieth, Jefferson City, statistician.

The league will play a 21-game schedule.

Jefferson City took the league title in 1968 with an 18-3 mark and 30-9 overall. The Bears also won the league All Star game, defeating a group of players from the rest of the circuit, 7-6, in Jefferson City.

The league decided to let all players remain eligible until the date of their 22nd birthday.

The next meeting is set for April 17 in Boonville.

Grid Champs Begin Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another exciting basketball season is over and baseball is just around the corner. But at Ohio State, the talk is football.

Coach Woody Hayes greets his national champion Buckeyes and a dozen outstanding frosh candidates Monday when Ohio opens five weeks of spring drills.

The Bucks are allowed four practice sessions, leading to and climaxed by the spring game windup on May 3.

Hayes has the unenviable task of improving on the performance of his 1968 squad which racked up a perfect 9-0 season, an impressive Rose Bowl triumph over Southern California and a national championship.

But there is such an abundance of talent here that the Buckeyes figure to be overwhelming favorites to capture the Big Ten championship and add to their 14-game winning streak, the longest in the nation.

Only three offensive regulars —tackles Dave Foley, an All-American, Rufus Mayes and center John Muhlbach—and a pair of defensive stalwarts—middle guard Vic Stottlemyer and linebacker Mark Stier, graduate.

Returning are quarterback Rex Kern, the super sophomore, and a host of other sophs who blossomed into full fledged stars last season and will be juniors this fall.

Kern, recovering from surgery for a chronic shoulder ailment, will not participate in spring drills. Backup Ron Maciejowski will be at the throttle but Hayes and his aides want to take a good look at Don Lamka, up from the frosh squad.

Tuesday Baseball Roundup

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

For a short time this week, General Manager Paul Richards of Atlanta might have been considering a comeback as a player after he had traded the Braves into an acute catcher shortage with the season opener only two weeks away.

Richards looked like the only man in the Braves' spring training camp with major league experience behind the plate—in the 1940s—following the departure of Joe Torre and the rumored retirement of Bob Tillman.

But Richards found himself out of the competition today and back in the front office when Tillman decided to return and Richards acquired journeyman receiver Dave Adlesh from the St. Louis Cardinals for utility infielder Bob Johnson.

Until then, the only catchers on duty in the Braves camp were Walt Hriniak and Bob Didier, both without major league experience, and Hriniak out with an injury.

Tillman, who had been excused from spring training for 13 days for personal reasons, now looks like the starting catcher for Atlanta, despite a mediocre career. Adlesh will be sent to the minors.

While no other team found itself caught that short, several were mulling over the loss of key players to injury.

Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's four-time National League batting champion, was the most important, leaving the Pirates in a worried state after he flew to his Puerto Rico home Tuesday for treatment of an ailing left shoulder that bothered him much of last season.

Clemente injured the shoulder about two weeks ago diving for a fly ball, and has not seen action since.

The San Francisco Giants lost slugging left fielder Jim Hart for at least five days when he stumbled chasing a foul fly in the Giants' 12-3 victory over Oakland, injuring a groin muscle that hampered him in 1968. Willie McCovey drove in four runs, two with a homer, in the game.

Cleveland lost catcher Duke Sims for three to four weeks as he dislocated a ring finger on his right hand when hit by a foul tip in Cleveland's 6-5 triumph over Seattle on Tony Horton's ninth-inning homer.

Tom McCrew, Chicago White Sox first baseman, will be out for 10 to 12 weeks after undergoing knee surgery.

In other moves, Montreal acquired rookie first baseman Don Pepper from Detroit for cash, and several former major leaguers were sent to the minors—Bill Stafford of Seattle and Larry Sherry and Luis Alcaraz of Kansas City.

On the field, home runs carried the day as Baltimore bombed Washington 8-2, Cincinnati routed Detroit 16-1, Kansas City blanked Boston 4-0, St. Louis outlasted Minnesota 10-5, Houston tripped Atlanta 3-1, the Chicago Cubs trimmed San Diego 5-3 and Los Angeles' A team dropped Pittsburgh 10-4.

In other games, Montreal beat Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles B team 6-3 and California clubbed Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League 12-2. The Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees were rained out.

May Have to Limit Use of Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe says it may be necessary to curb the use of automobiles in the nation's cities unless a mass transit breakthrough is achieved within two years.

"Some type of mass transportation has got . . . to get into operation pretty rapidly or we do face the real possibility that either we have to shut off to rubber tires certain limited areas within a city or charge a fee to come in there," Volpe said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The secretary acknowledged the need for new highways but said "we wouldn't be in the mess we're in today" if mass transit systems had been built as fast as expressways.

Volpe predicted that the motorist would begin looking for alternatives to being mired in traffic jams.

"If you get down to a point where automobiles have to travel five miles an hour, well, you know how long people are going to use them," he said. "They are going to walk to work instead of ride. Of course, it wouldn't hurt them if they did, either, I might add."

"Bold new ideas" are needed, Volpe said. But he added it would probably be five years before new developments could be in service.

"We can't wait that long for some of these things," he said.

Here are excerpts from the interview:

Q. What veto power, if any, should central city residents have over freeway construction in their neighborhoods?

A. Any responsible group should certainly have an opportunity to voice its opinions strongly and in the clearest terms, I think it is up to public agencies . . . to listen to these inputs on the part of neighborhood groups or citywide groups, action-oriented groups, . . . or whatever they might be.

But in the final analysis it is the elected or appointed officials who have to make some final judgments . . .

. . . Expressways are only one form. I'm convinced that you just don't stop a highway program because, perhaps, a few additional homes will have to be taken.

But, by the same token, you just can't depend on a highway program to do the job completely, because it can't do the job. This has been proven in New York City . . . where over half a century ago—1917, I guess—the pushcart era—the average speed was 11 miles an hour. Today it's 7 miles an hour in New York. So we haven't made much progress in over half a century. So something needs to be done. And it needs to be done in a bold and imaginative way . . .

Q. Some urban experts propose a series of user charges to discourage use of the automobile in central cities during business hours. Do you believe it necessary to ration the use of the automobile in some way?

A. Well, either we make a great deal more progress in mass transportation than we've made in the last five years, or within the next year or two, you're going to have to come to some type of restriction on certain areas within . . . the core city on the utilization of the automobile.

It could be the utilization of the trucks. I mean the delivery of goods during certain hours. It could be the separation of pedestrian and vehicle traffic . . . We are going to have to come to some type of solution along those lines . . .

I would prefer to see the alternative of taking some people off the automobile tires if you provide good, swift, safe, economical mass transportation . . .

Q. How do you think the highway lobby would greet such a stop?

A. I think they recognize the highway user himself is going to become so frustrated that he is going to be willing to experiment with anything rather than spend 13 per cent of his day and, maybe within a year or two, 20 per cent of his daily working hours behind another automobile and taking in all the fumes that come from it.

. . . It means the automobile manufacturer, the gasoline producers, the retail distributers are going to be faced with a situation of reduction in the utilization of the product which gives them their living unless something is done to bring about a better situation than that which presently exists . . .

If you get down to a point where automobiles have to travel five miles an hour, well, you know how long people are going to use them. They are going to walk to work instead of ride. Of course, it wouldn't hurt them if they did either, I might add.

. . . You are going to need highways as long as there's a United States of America.

But you are going to need mass transportation a great deal more and it's got to catch up. If we had gone along with mass transportation . . . at the same speed and started it about the same time we did with the highway stepup, we wouldn't be in the mess we're in today.

Q. What can be done now to get people out of ghettos to work in suburban factories?

A. This is, of course, another one of the problems. The dial-a-bus, of course, that's being worked on, the many other factors that are being worked on, the express bus transportation . . . There may be a better way to do it but we have a few examples I gave there recently.

One in New York, for a ghetto worker to get from Harlem to Long Island-Farmington. What is it, an hour and 45 minutes each way? From Watts to an aerospace center, 16 miles, but an hour and a half each way and three changes, transfers, and so forth.

Now, if we are going to get some responsible work, and not just menial work, for these ghetto workers . . . Then we've got to provide a means of transportation for these people to get these jobs and we can't wait five years to get the answers.

Q. Sen. Harrison Williams of New Jersey has proposed creation of an urban transit trust fund to be financed out of automobile excise taxes. What is your reaction to such a proposal?

A. As far as I'm concerned, I believe the trust fund concept is one way to finance it. I believe it's the surest way I have heard of. Someone may come up with a better answer. I haven t seen a better answer yet.

. . . It is one good way in which to make sure you will be able to finance over a specified period of time a specified number of miles of mass transportation that has been spelled out—similar to the highway program as it was spelled out in 1956 with a cost factor and a time factor to get it simultaneously completed in each state in the union.

Q. Do you think a tax on automobiles would be wise?

A. There have been some published reports that said the highway lobby would fight this because this would be taking money away from the highway trust fund. But the excise tax funds . . . do not go into the highway trust fund. Now it doesn't make a great deal of difference what particular tax you take these trust monies from. As long as you have a specific tax, it's all going to the same pot right now, the general fund. So whether you take it out of the automobile tax or you say 10 per cent of the cigarette tax, as long as you take a known tax provision now in the law and you say 10 per cent of that, depending on how much that brings in, or 5 per cent or 15 per cent or 20 per cent of it. In other words, the only way you are going to be guaranteed that you'll have the money to do the job and get it completed over a specific period of time . . . is through that kind of an approach.

Flood Project Authorization Gets Delayed

WASHINGTON — Progress on the Little Sni-A-Bar, a rural watershed project in Lafayette County, has been delayed in Congress, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) announced today.

The project would provide flood protection for 172 family farms and property in an area of about 24,000 acres. Annual benefits, including protection of roads and bridges, would amount to $65,777, Symington reported.

The senator said delay in the program is partially due to disagreement during the Johnson administration between the Congress and the President over which branch of government should have the right to approve the project, one of 96 of its kind over the U.S.

Farmers and other property owners in the areas have agreed to cooperate in creation of protection measures, and local and state funds are being made available, Symington said.

BUSINESS NEWS

COLE CAMP — Erwin O. Eckhoff, district representative for Lutheran Brotherhood, qualified for the 1968 Leaders Club, one of the fraternal insurance society's top sales honors, on the basis of his individual production of new business in 1968.

Eckhoff sold and put into force $841,962 of life insurance during 1968.

James M. Ryan, Leonard McGraw, Gilbert Yeager and G. R. Campbell will be honored for outstanding sales performance during 1968 at a Ford 300-500 Club banquet in March.

The men are members of the sales staff of Bill Greer Motors, Inc.

Members of the club, founded to recognize the performance of Ford salesmen over the country, average nearly $500,000 sales of automotive merchandise in 1968 to qualify for the honor.

Wallace's New Party Beaten In Election

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ed Jones, a Democrat, ran far ahead of nine other candidates to win the Tennessee 8th District seat in the first congressional race since the general election last November.

Jones, a cotton farmer, had 32,705 votes to 16,336 for William Davis, running for George C. Wallace's American Independent party, and 15,644 for Leonard Dunavent, the Republican nominee. Six independents trailed far behind in the voting Tuesday.

The district is traditionally Democratic, but Wallace carried it last November when running for president against Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey. The congressional vacancy was caused by the death of Democratic Rep. Robert A. Everett last Jan. 20.

Wallace, in a campaign rally for Davis, had called the special election "America's most important political race between now and the next national election."

Davis, a Covington insurance man, said he thought he did well considering that it was the first time he had ever run for office.

Said Jimmy Peeler, state Democratic chairman:

"Wallace picked the wrong district to dabble in."

Alan Mowbray, Actor, Dies at Age 72

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His butler roles were universally acclaimed. John Barrymore called him "a worthy adversary" as an actor.

Alan Mowbray loved acting and actors in general.

"If a bomb hit Hollywood, it would only be a matter of time before someone was squatting amid the ruins telling stories," he once said.

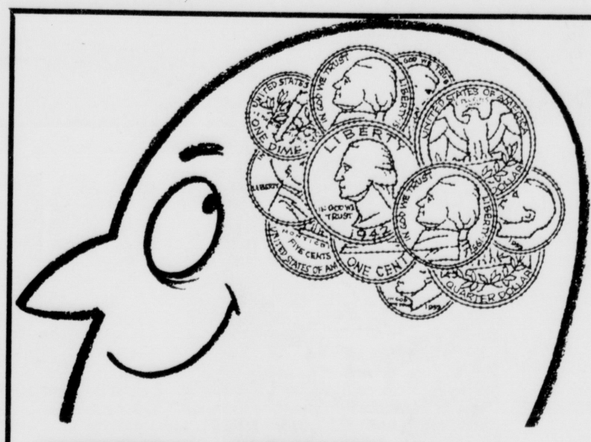

Four days after entering Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Mowbray died Tuesday of a heart attack at 72.

A London native, he was a naturalized U.S. citizen who appeared in more than 400 movie roles after starting his acting career on the English stage. He played in New York stock companies in 1923-29.

Mowbray's films included "Lady Hamilton," "Captain from Castile," "The Steel Cage," "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home," "The King and I," and "The Man Who Knew Too Much." He returned to New York in 1964 for the play, "Enter Laughing."

In New York, 16 years ago, he had his own TV series titled "Col. Humphrey Flack."

Survivors include his wife of 42 years, the former Lorayne Carpenter; a son, Alan Jr.; a daughter, Patricia, wife of actor Douglas Dumbrille; two grandchildren and two brothers.

New Baby Creates Problem

Jealous Dad

HOLLY HOLSUM'S PROBLEM MAILBAG

DEAR Holly Holsum: George was the perfect husband until our new baby arrived. But now that our darling George, Jr. is home from the hospital, and requiring hours of attention from me every day, George, Sr. is grumpy and jealous. When Junior gains a pound, Senior loses one, because he is on a hunger strike. When I fix the baby's formula, my husband paces the floor complaining how I never fix meals for him any more. What shall I do?

All Torn Up.

DEAR TORN: Before you fix the formula, fix Jealous George his favorite sandwich with fresh-bread-flavor Holsum Bread. I promise you — Holsum's lively taste will turn his green eyes blue again! Holsum bakes fresh-bread-flavor in . . . and it stays in, down to the last slice. Just let Daddy snack along with baby, and everything will be A-Ok again.

Empty Husband

Dear Holly Holsum: What can a husband do when his wife insists upon having her own career and refuses to get his breakfast? I don't mind the fact that she earns more money than I do, but facing every day with an empty stomach is pretty grim.

Hungry Harry.

DEAR HUNGRY: Start your wife on the Holsum toast habit. You fix coffee and toast with fresh-bread-flavor Holsum the first morning. Suggest she do the same the following morning. Thereafter she'll be happy to take turns. Holsum is the lively loaf. And fresh-tasting Holsum toast wakes you up and gives you a fresh start on the day.

Daring Adventure

Sharon Sites Adams, Marina Del Ray housewife, sits at the helm of a sailboat like the one she hopes to use when she sails from Yokahama, Japan, on a trans-Pacific trip to San Diego, Calif. The solo non-stop voyage will be the longest ever taken by anyone in a sailboat across the Pacific and the longest ever attempted by a woman anywhere. She hopes to make the 6,000 mile trip in approximately 80 days.

Honorary Regent Addresses DAR

Mrs. L. Bently Cash, Springfield, honorary state regent of Missouri, and past vice-president general, was the speaker at Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Saturday at Bothwell Hotel.

During the past 75 years, Mrs. Cash told the group, DAR has established a truly enviable record in meeting the responsibility in promoting as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. Thus it has developed an enlighted public opinion and affords to young and old such advantages as will develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens.

The organization supports two DAR schools, Kate Duncan Smith of Grant, Ala., with an enrollemtn of about 716 students, and Tamassee of Tamassee, S. C., with 356 students, born in the Appalachian area. DAR she continued, also helps five approved schools and two Indian schools, and provides an $8000 scholarship over a period of four years to a senior high school student who qualifies for the award according to the rules set up by the Student Loan and Scholarship committee.

Emphasis on education has been carried out in the knowledge that the future of this nation lies in the hands of its young people, she stated, and only an informed, well-educated and alert public can hope to keep America strong and free. For more than 60 years DAR has been active in youth education, and its record through its educational training has justified its belief that the investment in the DAR schools is sound, for the results speak for themselves.

Mrs. Cash was introduced by Mrs. Malcolm Scott, program chairman.

The meeting was opened by the regent, Mrs. George McCurdy, with grace by Mrs. P. L. Strole.

Music during the luncheon hour was by Miss Gwendolyn Dappelman of LaMonte.

The flag ritual was led by Mrs. Harry E. Lindstrom, who also gave the rules for flying the U.S. flag.

Miss Mary Hurlbut presented the President General's Message.

Delegates attending the state meeting at Excelsior Springs March 18-20 were Mrs. George McCurdy, Miss Lillian Thomson and Mrs. Henry R. Harris.

Osage Chapter won first place on the resolution for granting astronauts permission to read the Bible and have prayer in space. This resolution was compiled for Osage Chapter by Judge Frank Armstrong.

Tables were decorated with small American flags and red and white carnatoions with blue iris. Members of the committee were: Mrs. Keith Yount, chairman, Mrs. Pearl Stuart, Mrs. Louis Kendrich, Mrs. D. W. Heckart, Mrs. John W. Lewis, Mrs. Edward Yuille, Mrs. P. A. Sillers, Mrs. James Alexander and Mrs. J. E. Golladay.

Chief Miller Tells Dangers of Drugs

Chief of Police William Miller was the speaker at Optimist Club Tuesday noon at State Fair Restaurant at which time he explained the danger of drugs.

Marijuana is being brought into Sedalia from Kansas City and LSD from Colorado, he said. The police here are aware of what is going and of a pot party that was held recently in a private home, but the Supreme Court has tied the hands of the law so that little can be done to stop it, he said.

Eighty per cent of heroin victims started with marijuana, Chief Miller stated. If caught there can be a pretty good prison sentence for drug peddlers he said.

The best way, Chief Miller said, police felt to combat it is through prevention. He showed a movie of a high school boy who was an athlete but was falling behind in his studies. His coach told he he had to bring up his grades, and he wasn't in a very happy mood when he met a former classmate, a dropout. The classmate, was doing well as a salesman, but the thing the boy did not know was that he was selling heroin.

When his friend invited him to a party that night he had not thought much about going, until he found his family wasn't home and then decided to go to the party. He got in deeper and deeper and was arrested but released because it was his first offense. Finally in his agony he went to a hospital. But, when he was out again, the desire for drugs returned.

The thrills that come first only lead to ruined lives, Chief Miller said.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Charles Hendrickson, and invocation was by Wray Schroeder.

Carl Koch was inducted by the Rev. Mr. Hendrickson into the club.

Guests introduced were Dan Fisher, guest of Fred Biggs and Johnnie Foster, Buffalo, guest of Hendrickson.

Longwood Took Name From Famous English Country Home

By Hazel Lang

LONGWOOD — The village of Longwood in Pettis County was first called Hermantown and was located north of where it is now. The post office was known as Oak Grove, getting its name, it is believed, from the grove of tall trees that surrounded it.

When the petition was made for the change of the town's location, it was given on the condition that it be called Longwood, for there was already in the state a town named Oak Grove. The name of Longwood came from England, where for centuries there had been a great old estate known as Longwood.

Put Down Roots

In 1827 William Head came from Howard County and settled in the little community. Then came Thomas and Jesse Joplin in 1829 and Thomas Kemp, originally from Virginia, came in 1831 from Callaway County.

Henry Greer, from Virginia, settled there in 1833, when his son, John W. Greer, was just three years old; his grandson, John Wesley Greer, known as Wess Greer, still lives there.

A native of Germany where he had a large manufacturing company, Capt. George Lower, came to America in 1837, after the people rebelled against the government and he was compelled to leave the country because he was a rebel and a spy. In 1854, he came to Pettis County and Longwood.

When the Civil War began, Lower became involved and because he trained in the army in Germany he was given a commission as captain of the militia by the Northern Army for the purpose of keeping outlaws away during the war.

The war brought bands of marauders from the cesspools of both contending armies and many peaceful citizens were slain. William Major was murdered on his farm by a drunken rowdy in 1862. Col. W. H. Fields, who had settled southwest of Longwood and erected one of the finest brick houses in the county, was killed by one of the gangs.

Became a Rebel

John Greer, who was a woodworker and blacksmith, was so enraged by what was happening in the community that he joined Price's army and later was with Marmaduke's Cavalry at Shrevesport. His brother Henry, who was made to walk with others in front of one of the gangs, jumped a rail fence and disappeared in the brush.

When the war was over John Greer returned home, and in 1863 Daniel M. Gray, a native of Canada, who had started out at the age of 14 to see the world, stopped in Longwood. Gray was a blacksmith by trade and the two, Greer and Gray, went into business together manufacturing wagons.

These were very fine wagons and the two men took several of them along with tobacco and mules, to Texas, where they traded them for cattle.

Greer, who did not marry until he was 39, made three trips to Texas. On one in 1867, after his marriage, he brought back to his wife a spotted pony. It was, no doubt, Greer that Emerson Huff, author, spoke of in a fiction story based on the cattle drives to Kansas. Huff had a notation that it was reported some men drove cattle from Texas before the cattle drives to Kansas, to the neighborhood of Sedalia. Greer made his last trip to Texas for cattle in 1911 at age 80.

On to St. Louis

John S. Jones and Dr. Cartwright hauled freight with oxen as far as Pikes Peak. Jones raised hogs and once drove a large number of hogs to Jefferson City with the intention of taking them by boat from there on to St. Louis. When he reached Jefferson City he found he couldn't get a flat boat so drove them on to St. Louis to market.

Longwood, situated just at the edge of a long stretch of timber, had no railroad and mail was brought daily from Sedalia. The postmaster in the 1860's was James Roberts, who had the post office in a corner of his general store.

On Long Grove Creek, east of Longwood, Monroe Joplin built a mill three stories high. He used the engine from a steamboat that was wrecked at Boonville. In order to bring the engine to Longwood he had to have a special type wagon and it took six oxen to pull it. The mill had a certain kind of whistle when he ground flour and another kind of whistle when corn was ground.

Joplin's father owned a water mill and a mill race went across a corner of the frame. It was half a mile long and the water went down through the race and over the wheel. The mill burned but the race is still there on the land now owned by Paul Stevens.

Put to Work

Monroe Joplin was an ex-Confederate soldier. He thought his women folks, consisting of his wife, four daughters and two sisters, didn't have enough to do, so he had them wash the wool from the sheep, then someone would spin it and weave it into cloth to make jeans and clothes. He believed these were better than other clothes.

Joplin built a foot bridge over a stream that was a work of an engineer. His house was located up on a bluff which was very high and steep. The bridge was about three feet wide and about 20 feet long. It sloped like a ramp to the road, over a depth of 50 to 60 feet. It had supports and banisters and stood nearly 20 years.

About 1902 Monroe Joplin's youngest son died, and a year later Joplin himself died. The oldest son, who had gone to another state, came home and took over the mill. It was for him that Wess Greer worked and fired the engine which used a cord of wood. It howled at 80 pounds of pressure, had a fly wheel with four tons of steel in it and a pulley four feet in diameter.

Trip for Cattle

In 1903 Milton Joplin decided to tame cattle at his saw mill where he worked oxen. He went down to south Missouri and got two steers as high as his head — he was six feet tall. One died and he took the mate to Hughesville to weigh. It weighed 2,250 pounds.

The blue denim jacket that Milton Joplin wore had silver dollars for buttons.

During the 1800's the federal grant office for the Missouri area from the Iowa line to the Osage River was located at Warsaw. Miami, a small town in the northern part of Saline County, was a steamboat landing and a favorite crossing of the river. The distance between Miami and Warsaw was far and in those days took an entire day. Longwood, which was along the route, became a stopover.

The first school in Longwood was built of brick and served until 1882, when it became so dilapidated that it had to be torn down. A frame building was then built at the cost of $800. It was a one-room school with hand-carved desks and a barrel etove.

There were two churches in the town, one at each end. One was Methodist and one Presbyterian. One church had services the first and third Sundays while the other held services the second and fourth Sundays, and everyone in town attended the services at both churches.

Word of God

The Rev. John Montgomery, who came to Missouri about 1857, began preaching at Longwood shortly afterward. His first sermon in the community was preached at a rude saw mill with a collection of 40 to 50 logs, on which were seated a large number of men, women and children.

On Sept. 25, 1869, a committee consisting of John Montgomery and Joshua Barbee met the people at Longwood and organized a church. There were 19 members, and Mr. Montgomery preached there until 1876, by which time the membership increased to 67.

The Longwood Methodist Episcopal Church was organized some years before the war and occupied a frame building completed in 1871 and dedicated by the Rev. William M. Prottsman. It was built under the supervision of Judge D. H. Orear and the carpenter work was done by Mathew Bridgwater. It was well-furnished with seats, carpets, and organ, and was shared by the Presbyterian congregation. The original members were Reuben Creel and wife, J. C. Hemphill and wife, James I. Belwood and family, Wilson Jones and family, William Ricks, Col. Burford and family, Mrs. Horton, James Estes and the Kemp families.

Later Captain Lower, who in his country had been a Lutheran, and Reinhart Sloemer were founders of the Presbyterian Church.

Longwood was a flourishing little town in those early years with several business firms.

Ran a Store

Daniel S. Wilcox operated a general store in which was a drug store. He married Martha Helen Moffett, daughter of Hierome Smith Moffett. The Moffett home was located just north of the Wilcox store. A son, Dan, worked in the store and liked the drug store so much that he took a course in pharmacy. In 1900 he came to Sedalia, going to work for John L. Kautzman and later bought the drug store which was located on Main.

For a few years he operated it as the Dan Wilcox Drug Store and later H. L. McFarland went in with him and it became Wilcox and McFarland. Mrs. Arthur Duly is a daughter of Daniel S. Wilcox.

Across the street from the Wilcox general store in Longwood was another general store operated by William Hoffman which had a large stock of dry goods. The store was known as Sale and Hoffman, the senior partner being Isaac Sale, who later went to St. Louis.

A. B. Caton also had a general store which included dry goods, groceries and drugs.

Smith in Town

S. G. Hanley, father of Charles Hanley, who was many years at the Third National Bank in Sedalia, was a blacksmith, as was A. C. Chaney.

E. G. Frazier, M. E. Minisler, Reinhart Sloemer (Schloemer), John Morris and Henry Barnhoff were all carpenters.

Reinhart Sloemer, born in Germany, came to Pettis County in 1858 and later resided in Longwood. He was a first class workman, a thorough mechanic and a wonderful carpenter, not only a foremost builder in the region but also skilled in making fine furniture. He always kept an extensive supply of undertakers' goods on hand.

Judge D. H. Orear was the lawyer in the town, a notary public. Mrs. Duly recalled that when she was seven years old her father died and it was necessary to appoint a guardian for her. Her brother was appointed and Judge Orear signed the paper, which she still has.

The Willis E. Taylor home was near the Methodist Church and it was always a place where people liked to gather. Taylor was the type who would say after church, "Come on and go home with me," and they always did.

Served in Office

Clem Jones was a representative for two terms in the State Legislature at about the time Nat Lower was a state senator.

Dr. A. A. Davis, from Virginia, was a pioneer doctor of Pettis County. He went first to Saline County and moved to Longwood in 1860, practicing from the Lamine to Houstonia. Dr. F. Ezell practiced in Longwood in 1896 and later moved to Fayette to educate his children, returned to Longwood in 1904.

The doctor best remembered, however, was Dr. Prowell who went to Longwood in 1890 and served the area for miles around. Regardless of the weather Dr. Prowell went over bad roads to take care of the sick and bring babies into the world. Most of the time he went by horse and buggy, but when the roads were so he could not travel that way he rode horseback.

When Dr. Prowell would make a call he would sit and visit with the patient and the family until the telephone would ring and his wife would tell him who had called and wanted him to come.

Ran the Bank

The Longwood Bank opened in 1910 with Emmett Orear as cashier. After Orear died in 1920, Roy Taylor was elected to take his place. Nat Lower was president of the bank and Willis Taylor vice-president. The bank closed in November of 1931.

Richard Lower, a son of Captain Lower, a prominent stockman of the Longwood area, served as a presiding judge of Pettis County.

Few of the descendants of those early families of Longwood still live in that area but many of them are still in Sedalia. Several of the lovely old homes built by those early settlers still stand, for the wood from which they were built was the best and the builders unexcelled.

Quebec is Canada's largest province, followed by Ontario and British Columbia.

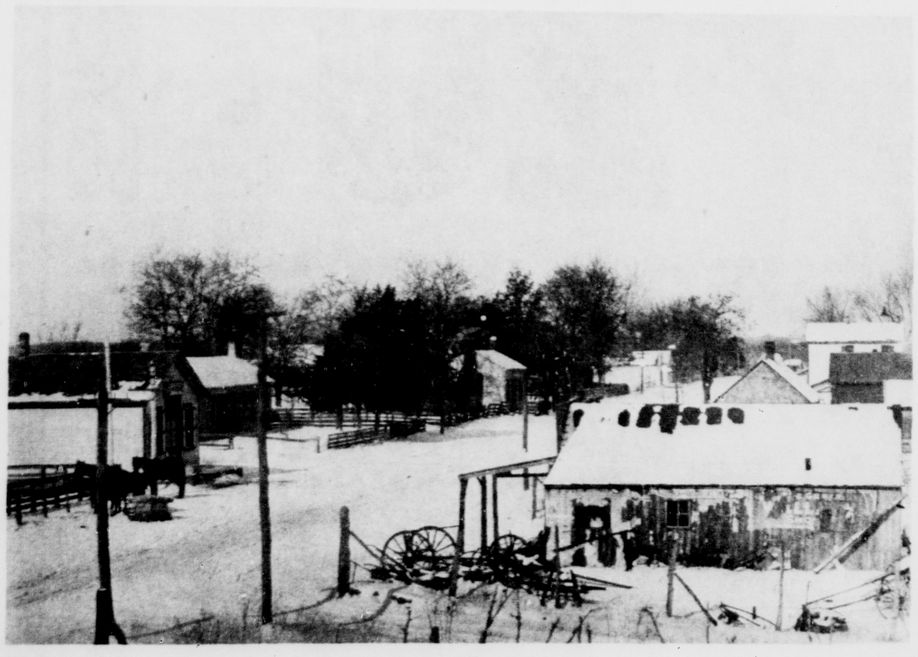

Young Townsmen

Pictured above is the family of John Greer, pioneer in the Longwood community, who drove cattle from Texas. His wife is at center. On his left is his son, John Wesley (Wess) Greer, who still resides at Longwood. Next to his mother is Mrs. George (Pearl) Woodson. Standing are left to right: Mrs. Franklin (Kate) Short, Mrs. Robert (Ollie) Bealert, whose son, Leland Bealert, is postmaster at Hughesville, and Mrs. Charles (Jane) Swope.

Main Street

This is the main street of Longwood many years ago. With snow on the ground, a sled to carry back purchases to which one of the horses is hitched stands in front of the store that later became the Hoffman General Store. At the time of the picture the Hoffman store was on the same side but at the far end of the street. On the other side of the street in the foreground was a blacksmith shop.

The Obedient Ingredient

Milnot does what you want it to do. In everything, plain or fancy.

It creams. It whips. It performs in dips. It goes milk and cream one better.

And then some.

Without the "canned milk" taste of evaporated milk. Or all the calories.

There's more to Milnot than milk. (And less: it's made with cholesterol-free vegetable oil.)

Mandarin Fruit Salad

- 2 cups boiling liquid (juice from fruit or water)
- 1 large (6-ounce) package orange gelatin
- 1 tall (13-ounce) can MILNOT, chilled
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 2½-3 cups mandarin orange sections, drained
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Dissolve gelatin in boiling liquid; chill until slightly thickened. Whip Milnot until it holds stiff peaks (be sure bowl and beater are dry); gradually whip in lemon juice, then gelatin mixture. Fold in the mayonnaise, orange sections and nuts. Pour into 3-quart container. Chill several hours until firm. Serve on salad greens. Garnish with mayonnaise topped by mandarin orange sections. 16 servings.

For variety, use the same recipe with fruit cocktail (No. 2½ can), instead of mandarin oranges, and any flavor gelatin.

A Grassroots Problem

"Why don't they go down town and take pictures of the litter adults scatter?" some Smith-Cotton students want to know.

And they have a point. That is one thing Americans of all ages excell in over all the rest of the world — we are the litterbug champions. People of all ages, of all walks of life. And don't think that isn't the first thing people from other countries notice about us, either.

A woman visiting here from Russia was amazed, and certainly not impressed, when she saw not a child, not a teenager, but a well-dressed man get out of a nice car, buy something at a drive-in and then simply drop his paper cup on the ground. That wasn't the only one she saw, either.

But suppose the teenagers take on a project of showing up the older people and letting them know that high type citizens are not litterbugs regardless of how nice they might be dressed or what kind of a car they drive. Moreover, adults could set examples for children who always look up to them, and after a while it would catch on. We wouldn't be ashamed for Russians to come to our country or people from any other land.

The first thing American tourists notice in other countries is how clean they are, and almost always, if they give talks on their travels they mention that. One man told how the women of Russia kept cleaning the streets all the time, and they had a time picking up stuff tossed away by the careless Americans.

There are pretty red and white trash containers everywhere now, but if the American basketball players couldn't hit baskets any better than some people are able to hit the trash containers, they would never win a tournament.

Who better can change the habits of the litter pitching public than teenagers by good examples? They well could shame their elders, and this is not only in the town but along the country road. Sure, it might have been the kids that left unsightly piles of cans at one spot, but who threw the trash that doesn't look like teenage rubbish all along the road to Georgetown? It is time good citizens started watching for those litterbugs and report them. There is a $100 fine for littering on the highway. What would the fines amount to on the Georgetown road? Couldn't the town make a lot of money at just a penny per paper cup?

Children around Mark Twain School, and perhaps other schools, too, may be seen nearly every day with buckets picking up litter from the school ground and the sidewalks surrounding it.

Teenagers on the whole are good citizens, a little thoughtless at times, but there is no excuse for a well-dressed man in a nice car to be thoughtless and there is no excuse for people who dump their trash along country roads.

Wake up Americans! If you don't like the idea of picking up beer cans, paper cups and other kinds of rubbish from your own property, be careful where you toss your own.

If the teenagers want to be really different then let them quit littering. This is a bad American custom the older generation started and continues. It is time somebody took up the fight against it.

Gas Suit Dismissal Causes Furor

By DREW PEARSON

SAN FRANCISCO — Public utility attorneys have been flabbergasted that Attorney General John Mitchell would dismiss so important an antitrust action as the El Paso Natural Gas-Pacific Northwest Gas case after only six days in office, in view of the fact that the Nixon law firm was involved. Mitchell is a former senior partner in the Nixon firm of Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie, Alexander and Mitchell, which between 1961-67 received $771,129.83 from El Paso Natural Gas.

"Attorney General Mitchell could merely have said that the case was filed by the Democrats and it's their baby," said William Bennett, former chairman of the California Public Utilities Commission. "He could have let the courts decide it, which was the proper procedure, rather than taking the matter in his own hands. If he had left it to the courts there would have been no criticism of the Nixon administration. However, El Paso Natural Gas made a sweetheart deal to get the case dismissed and the attorney general who once represented El Paso leaped in to sanction it."

Bennett is the former attorney for the State of California, subsequently dropped by Gov. Ronald Reagan, who fought the El Paso Gas monopoly case up to the Supreme Court three different times and three times received a ruling that the gas monopoly must be broken up.

"There were three pipelines serving the Far West," said Bennett. "Now there are two. The people of California are completely at the mercy of El Paso Natural Gas and the prices it wants to charge as a result of Mitchell's dismissal."

The Supreme Court, which three times took jurisdiction in the El Paso Gas monopoly case, has received a petition from two University of Utah professors, John J. Flynn and I. Daniel Stewart, Jr., asking that the court continue to retain its jurisdiction and overrule the hasty dismissal action of the Justice Department.

—Raw Politics—

The two professors charge a "deal" by the different gas companies and the Justice Department to dismiss the case.

"This proceeding affects the entire industrial development of the West," they told Chief Justice Warren, "as well as the integrity of Supreme Court mandates."

"Especially interesting is the deal by which the State of Utah finally was persuaded to dismiss its appeal," said former chairman Bennett of California.

"The Utah Public Service Commission is supposed to protect consumers, not enter into deals. Yet it signed an agreement whereby Colorado Interstate Gas would deposit money in Utah banks, buy steel from the U.S. Steel Company in Provo, Utah, and place at least one Utah businessman on the board of directors of Pacific Northwest Gas after it merged with Colorado Interstate Gas.

"It's not the job of the Utah Public Service Commission to make deals. Its job is to protect the consumer and keep gas rates low. It has no business wangling more money for Utah banks or more steel pipe from the U.S. Steel Corporation," said Bennett.

"The whole deal smacks of the worst kind of politics and I am surprised that President Nixon, whose law firm received almost three-quarters of a million dollars, would think his attorney general could get by with this without a protest from the public."

—Father of Television—

The National Association of Broadcasters, now meeting in Washington, did not invite former Sen. Clarence Dill of Washington state, father of radio and television, to address their convention. If they had they would have received a diagnosis of the radio-TV industry which many of them would not enjoy.

Sen. Dill, who wrote the Federal Communications Act by which radio and television are regulated, has some vigorous ideas and some regrets regarding his baby.

"Television has made some great contributions to our civilization," said Sen. Dill, "but it has also left some wounds on our society which will take many years to heal.

"When children sit all day glued to a TV set, watching crime and violence, it's bound to have an effect on the crime rate. The mere fact that they sit, instead of being out in the open, exercising, has an effect on their health and mentality. Thousands of mothers use TV sets as babysitters instead of sending their children outdoors for recreation.

Also, when the big city slum dwellers watch TV commercials, which constantly tell viewers they can buy now and pay later, some viewers get the idea they can take now and suffer the consequences later.

"I'm quite sure that these commercials have an effect on the young Negroes who have been responsible for escalating robberies in our big cities."

Sen. Dill also has some strong views regarding the tendency toward monopoly among radio, television and newspapers.

"If I had dreamed that newspapers would acquire radio and television stations," he said, "I would have written a prohitibition into the act. Certainly newspapers which occupy monopoly positions in a city should not be permitted also to own radio and television stations. This country cannot afford to have monopoly power over public opinion any more than it can afford to have monopoly in industry.

"When we wrote the radio act," said Sen. Dill, "Congress had no idea that the licensing of the air waves would bring great fortunes to a few people. The air waves are limited, just as the numbers of hydroelectric dam sites are limited. The public has retained ownership of most of these electric power sites, but it has not retained ownership of the air waves.

"If I were in the Senate today I would do my best to rewrite the Federal Communications Act."

Looking Backward

NINETY-FIVE YEARS AGO

We notice with pleasure that our city is steadily marching forward, like the car of progress. We note a new stone crossing is being laid from Yeater's side of Main street to Mackey, Smiths and Landes' side. It will prove a good convenience for shoppers.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Edward Connor and Aaron Griffey, two Sedalia young men who are members of the Drury College Varsity Band, Springfield, will sail May 31 on a tour of the Mediterranean abroad the S.S. Carinthia for a ten weeks' tour.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee held out hope today to some 30,000,000 income taxpayers that the returns they now are sweating over will be the last they ever have to file. The committee is studying a plan to erase the requirement of further returns from persons with income of $5,000 or less!!!

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — My company paid the plane fares and hotel bills for my wife and me when we went to look over the city I'm being transferred to. However, I noticed that taxes were deducted from the reimbursement. Why was that?

A — The amount you received is classified as wages subject to withholding and not a reimbursement for deductible moving expenses. When you actually move to the new location, the unreimbursed cost of transporting you, your family and your household goods may well be a deductible moving expense. The cost of meals and lodging while traveling to your new home may also be deductible. For further details, ask your IRS district office for Document 5014, Employees' Expenses, Educational Expenses.

God's Love Envelopes The World

By DAVID POLING

We ought to collect all the definitions and interpretations of "love" to find the depth of this concept. In the New Testament we know that love can be sacrificial, it may be undeserved, it is found to be strengthening, outgoing, inseparable. Jesus used the word love, and by contrast consider what was not said:

that God loves the roll of church members and especially those graduated from church-related colleges that God loves and prefers the practices of the saints

that God loves those who who help themselves that God loves the English-speaking world best and America first that God loves the Holy Lands and most especially those areas west of Jordan

So, what an astounding and incomprehensible statement. That God loves the world!

This messy mankind with its kings and rogues, its scholars and dropouts, its streetwalkers and grandmothers, its gladiators and nurses' aides, its Albert Schweitzers and Joseph Stalins, its Martin Luther Kings and Ku Klux Klans.

When the writer of John said the world he meant the whole created earth, everyone and all, the least and the greatest, the lovely and the hated. He said that it was this world that God did not pity or ignore or detest or resent. He loved it. And how strange and sad that our attention is not directed to the needs and hopes of the world, but to the tax exemptions, privileges and sighings of the institutional church, which has come to be served, instead of to serve, to be ministered unto, instead of to minister, to save itself in hopes that it will not die.

I don't believe that we will have any lasting or significant change in the marching orders of the church until we have a better grasp of God's concern for the world and the outward-bound momentum of a people following His concern. God didn't love another world. Nor a more receptive or kindly world. It's the piece of earth with its disease and disasters, its sunsets and race riots, its H-bombs and Broadway plays, its church burnings and rose festivals, its protest marches and red-carpet service.

The clergy and the laity need now to become lovers of the world for the sake of Jesus Christ.

One Christian, so admired and revered in this period, has said:

Man is challenged to participate in the sufferings of God at the hands of a godless world.

He must therefore plunge himself into the life of a godless world, without attempting to gloss over its ungodliness with a veneer of religion or trying to transfigure it. He must live a wordly life and so participate in the sufferings of God . . . To be a Christian does not mean to be religious in a particular way, to cultivate some form of asceticism—but to be a man. It is not some religious act which makes a Christian what he is, but a participation in the suffering of God in the life of the world.

Two days after he wrote that, Dietrich Bonhoeffer was hung for his participation in the world as a Christian who had become an activist in the plot to destroy Adolf Hitler.

("The Last Years of the Church," by David Poling. Doubleday $4.95. Used by permission.)

The usual practice has been to have theological students spend their weekends working in churches as baby ministers. This is the worst thing you can do . . . They spend all week questioning their faith and then go out on Sunday and pretend it's all true.

BETTY CANARY

Ah! Those Apron Strings

One Saturday morning my youngest daughter, Babs, was home alone with me. And, she had that old deserted feeling. The other children had all gone off, busy and self-important, to various activities. "I think I may suck my thumb this morning," she replied. "I know what you mean," I said.

Then Mrs. Graham and her 6-year-old Craig came for a visit. I am glad about that for at least I can now say that I have actually met a woman who has solved the Rules problem.

I have rules around here and I expect the children to follow them. My biggest problem is remembering all of them myself. Sometimes, you see, in a fit of power, I make lots of new ones. I have found that printing these on pieces of shirt cardboard and nailing them up around the house is best. After all, a rule in view is worth two I can't recall. Anyway, Mrs. G has the solution to a bad memory and a messy house. Don't allow your kids to do anything! You get away with this by pretending you are protecting their physical and mental health.

"Would you like to play with my brother's trucks?" Babs asked Craig. "Oh, no! Craig isn't allowed to play with cars and trucks because I think it can lead to aggressive behavior. I have seen boys run cars AGAINST the walls!" (Obviously, she hadn't spent much time around here where boys have run cars UP the walls.)

"Well," I suggested, "perhaps Babs and Craig could get out the paints."

"No, I prefer that Craig not experiment with paints. We want him to experience really good work in the museums—for inspiration."

"I know!" Babs said. "Let's take Beau for a walk!"

"Oh, no, Craig isn't used to dogs. And, frankly, I would prefer he not observe—well, I don't feel he should be exposed to an animal, uh, going to the bathroom," she finished, lamely.

"You're kidding!" Babs said, not lamely at all.

Mrs. Graham winced. "I am sure you did not mean to be rude." (I wasn't so sure about this myself.) Then, turning to me, she explained that other children's bad manners was one reason why Craig wasn't allowed to visit more.

"Well," I suggested. "They can each have two pieces of candy from the dish in the living room and watch the rest of the cartoons."

I expected it and I got it. "Oh, Craig isn't allowed to watch CARTOONS! We don't want his little mind cluttered. We select his programs very carefully. Of course, he never eats candy—his teeth, you know."

When they, at last, went home Babs and I had three pieces of candy. (We do have a rule about no candy before noon, but we NEEDED it.) Then she decided to watch the rest of the cartoons. In fact, I thought it such a good idea that I joined her.

Opening lead—♦ 2

The 1930 bridge writers were great experts in making up hands to fit their own special bidding systems that would not fit any other expert's system.

Today's hand shows the great advantage of a system that used opening bids of three clubs, two spades, two diamonds and two hearts for strong suit hands. These bids were not forcing but two clubs was and showed five or more quick tricks and a balanced hand. The bust response to this bid was two diamonds. This system is, of course, very similar to the British ACOL except that their two-club bid is a game force and their other two bids one-round forces.

Today's hand was given by the inventor of this system to show how it was the only one that would work.

It certainly worked with his sample bidding. North tried three spades over the three-club response and South bid three no-trump because he had honors in both unbid suits. North was happy to pass. A diamond was led from the queen and declarer made five odd.

Oswald Jacoby, who played in those days, doubts if any pair that got started on this line of bidding would finish quite that low. South might well decide to go on to four clubs. Players of that day liked to rebid five-card suits. Even if South did go on to three no-trump, we feel that any North player worth his salt would note that he had two queens above his two-club opening and bid again. Pessimists might manage to stop at four no-trump. Optimists would get to six. Incurable optimists might even reach seven.

Like most hands of this type, point count would make it fairly clear that a slam should not be bid, but point count was not used seriously by many players of that day.

High Blood Pressure Is Not a Light Matter

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My nephew, 22, has a blood pressure of 166/100. He takes this very lightly, saying that the idea that the normal blood pressure is 100 plus your age has been exploded. What do you think?

A—A systolic pressure of 100 plus your age is no longer regarded as normal —100 plus half your age gives a closer approach but even that may be too high. A pressure of 166/100 is high for a person of any age and a lower reading of 100 is a definite sign of potential trouble. The sooner your nephew gets his head out of the sand and seeks aid in bringing his pressure down the better.

Q—What are the dangers of lowering the blood pressure too fast?

A—It is advisable to allow three or four weeks to bring a very high blood pressure down to normal. Bringing the pressure down too fast may cause lightheadedness or fainting.

Q—Is an altitude of 5,280 feet above sea level beneficial for a person who has high blood pressure?

A—When a person who is living near sea level moves to a high altitude, his blood pressure goes up for a day or two, then gradually returns to its former level. In the long run, altitude would neither help nor aggravate your high blood pressure.

Q—Our doctor is treating my husband for high blood pressure. He says an occasional cocktail will not affect the pressure. What do you think?

A—Your doctor is right. If a cocktail helps your husband to relax, it may even help to lower his blood pressure.

Q—Are eggs, milk, bacon, mayonnaise and butter harmful for persons with high blood pressure?

A—No, but foods high in cholesterol may cause hardening of the arteries and this is one cause of high blood pressure.

Q—Will Epsom salts lower the blood pressure?

A—Epsom salts are not recommended for this purpose. There are several drugs that will lower your blood pressure without upsetting your digestive tract.

Q—I take Butisol for hypertension. Does this drug have any bad side effects?

A—Since this is a barbiturate, it is habit forming. Its chief side effect is drowsiness.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the origin of the expression "done up brown?"

A—This comes from baking. When a loaf of bread or a batch of biscuits is "done up brown," it is complete, finished, ready to serve. So when a project is "done up brown," nothing more can be added to it.

When the Aswan high dam in Egypt is completed in 1970, it will contain enough material to build 17 great pyramids, says The World Almanac. The billion-dollar dam will control the floodwaters of the Nile River and help to irrigate 1.7 million acres.

It's the Law

QUESTION: Can a person revoke a will by declaring that he had revoked it?

Facts: Before Tom Brown died he had told his family many times that the will he executed some 25 years ago was no longer effective. He considered the will out of date and had told his wife to destroy it the next time she saw it. The wife, however, neglected to locate the old will and it was not found until after Tom's death. The will favored one of the sons — who had since become the "black sheep" of the family. He claimed the will was valid. Tom's widow was in doubt, but since she was named executrix in the will she offered it in probate. Was the will revoked because Tom directed his wife to destroy it?

ANSWER: The answer is no. As Tom's will was in existence at the time of death, and properly executed, the will was valid even though many years old. A will can be revoked at any time by the testator, and Tom could have revoked it up to the time he died. A will may be revoked by its maker or by someone else at his direction and in his presence by cancelling or destroying the will physically, such as by burning it up or tearing it to pieces. The most effective way to revoke a will, however, is by making a new will, properly prepared and executed, stating that all prior wills are revoked. The will speaks from the time of the testator's death and becomes effective at that time. Tom had intended to revoke the will, but he failed to act properly to carry it out. Intention alone is not enough. His out-of-date will was still good.

Guest Editorial

DAILY NEWS (Chicago): Phony Auto Repair Diagnosis. — New York is considering state licensing of auto repairmen. A survey taken by a non-profit group, the Citizens Committee for Metropolitan Action, has lent weight to such a move.

The committee had a mechanic wrongly adjust the distributor setting on an auto. They then took the sputtering car to a number of repairmen.

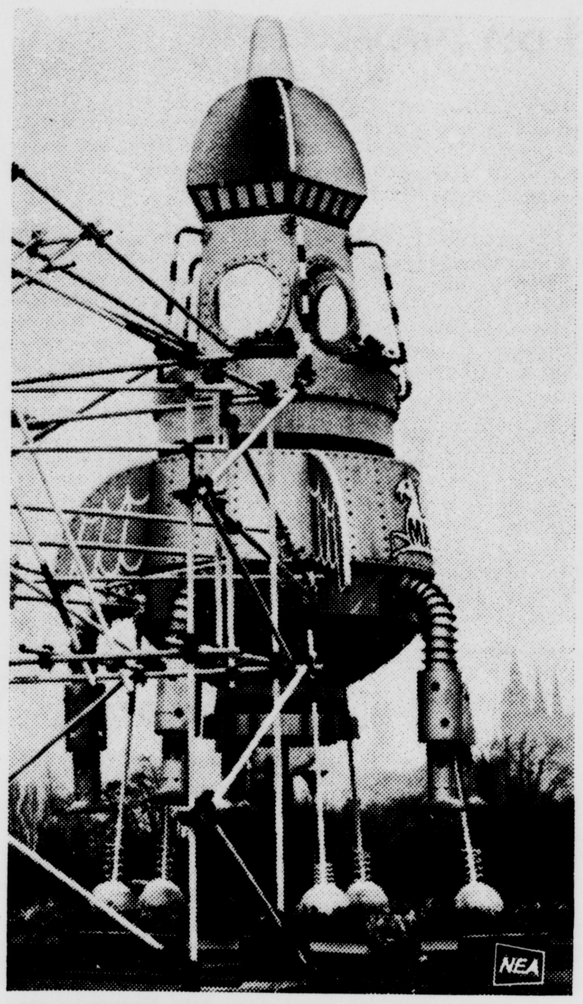

Only 5 per cent correctly analyzed the trouble. Sixty per cent made wholly false diagnoses. Costs estimates ran as high as $40.

New York's exploration of the need for licensing auto repairmen is aimed at protecting the auto owner from inept or dishonest repairmen.

Illinois and other states might consider the desirability of such legislation, which would protect both the consumer and honest repairmen.

Football's Cradle

Canton, Ohio, is the cradle of U.S. professional football. The American Professional Football Association was founded there in 1920, with Jim Thorpe of the Canton Bulldogs as its first president.

IT'LL NEVER GET OFF THE GROUND. Made from cardboard and wood, this space vehicle stands on the concrete base of the former Stalin monument in Prague, Czechoslovakia. It will be seen in a new Czech film.

Kennedy Plans To Fulfill RFK Pledge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is planning a three-day expedition to remote Alaskan villages next month to fulfill a pledge made by his assassinated brother Robert.

Senators, aides and reporters making the educational excursion to the frozen north will fly between villages, but at one point they will have to resort to dogsled to reach their destination.

Kennedy's special subcommittee on Indian education will be exploring problems of the Eskimos, Indians and Aleuts, including poverty and medical needs.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who had been chairman of the subcommittee, promised the Alaskan natives last year that he would visit their villages.

Now, one year after the original excursion was planned, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., plans to carry through on the promise.

The tour is to start April 9 at Anchorage.

Besides Kennedy, subcommittee members planning to make the trip include Democrats Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Republicans Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, William Sexbe of Ohio and George Murphy of California.

Alaska's two new senators—Republican Ted Stevens and Democrat Mike Gravel—also plan to go along.

World News Capsules

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North and South Korean forces clashed on the demilitarized zone today for the first time in six days, and both sides exchanged charges at an armistice commission meeting here. No casualties were reported.

North Korea said 10 South Korean soldiers attacked its forces across the truce zone, firing "several thousand rounds of heavy and light machine-gun fire." It said South Korea later brought up a number of tanks.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp of the U.N. Command, said a South Korean report indicated the North Koreans fired 800 rounds of machine-gun and small arms ammunition at a guard post, starting a fire and destroying a tower and other buildings.

Knapp proposed an on-the-spot investigation by a joint observer team, but the North Koreans rejected this as a "cover-up."

It was the first firefight reported since the allied airlift exercise Focus Retina ended March 20. There were five firefights during the nine-day war games, which North Korea had denounced as a provocation aimed to start a new war.

TOKYO (AP) — Three opposition parties boycotted the Japanese Diet today, trying to paralyze the parliament in protest against a bill pushed through committee by the ruling Liberal-Democratic party.

The Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Komeito (Clean government) parties demanded that the bill to increase railway fares be killed and said their boycott would continue until the railroading of the bill through committee Tuesday is explained.

The Transportation Committee meeting turned into a shoving match as opposition members tried to block approval of the measure. The committee chairman, Kichizo Hosoda, opened the meeting and let the bill be approved despite the opponents' pushing and shoving, then the opposition swarmed around and tried to prevent him from leaving the room.

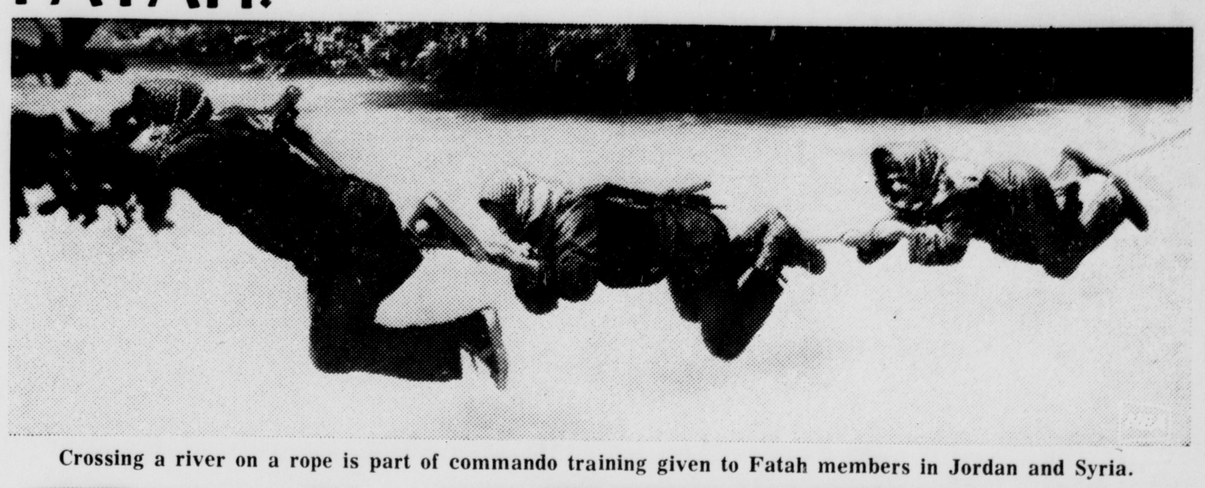

Hosoda was rescued by uniformed Diet guards, but the Socialists, Japan's leading opposition party, promised "physical resistance" if the LDP tries to convene the Diet.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced the establishment of a milliion-dollar Vatican development fund for Latin America today.

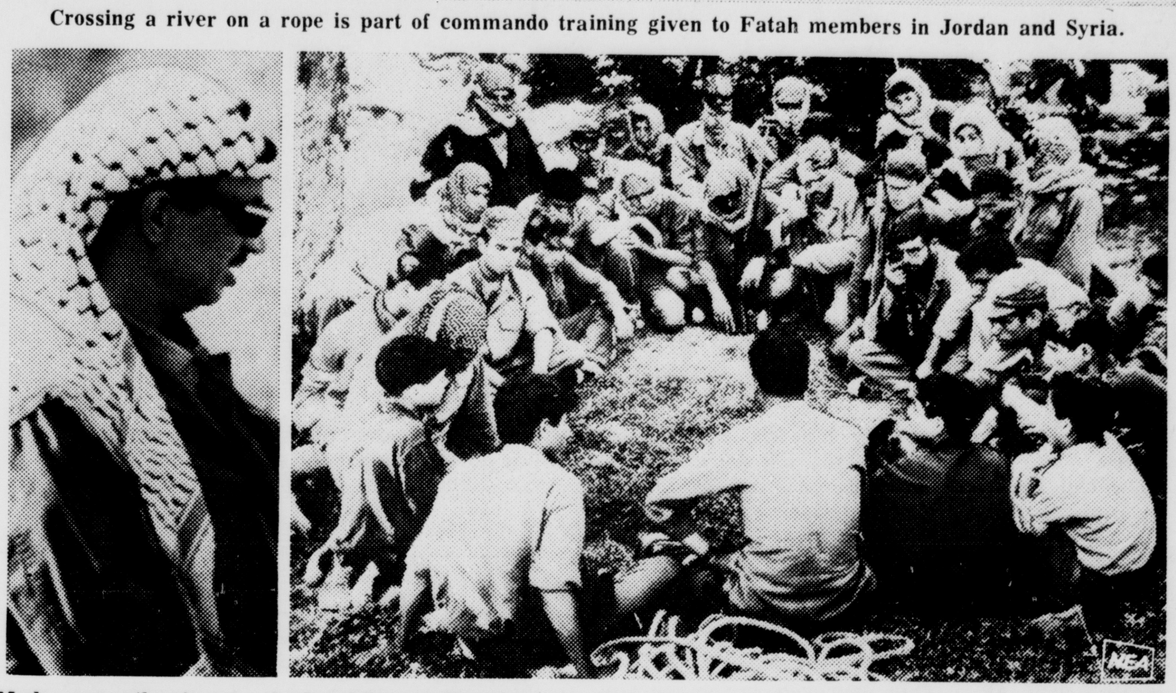

The fund will be set up with the Inter-American Development Bank. The money will come from the sale of property owned by the Vatican in Paris.

The first million dollars will be used to spur agricultural development in Colombia, which Pope Paul visited last year. The Pope announced establishment of the fund at his weekly general audience today, the second anniversary of his encyclical Popolorum Progessio (On the Development of Peoples). The fund will be named the Popolorum Progressio Fund.

FATAH!

Crossing a river on a rope is part of commando training given to Fatah members in Jordan and Syria.

Made up mostly of young Arab volunteers, Fatah is a commando-type organization which trains in the art of lightning raids on the enemy, Israel. Its leader is Yassir Arafat, left, who also is chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization. At right, members listen intently to a lecture on commando tactics. Most of the recent border incidents between Israel and her Arab neighbors have been credited to or blamed on Fatah.

Would Give Up Tax Funds

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state's three largest metropolitan areas are willing to give up the money they now get from tax on household goods and wearing apparel, but not without some other type of income.

Officials of St. Louis City and county and Kansas City told a Senate committee Tuesday they favored exempting those items from the personal property tax.

They testified on a measure by Rep. Walter Meyer D-St. Louis, that would let voters authorize the legislature to make that move.

Meyer said his proposed constitutional amendment would not, in itself, exempt household goods and clothing from tax ation. He said it would, if approved by the voters, allow the legislature to enact such a law.

He termed the present tax on household items inequitable and unenforceable. His witnesses agreed. They pointed out that people could simply hide such things as silverware when the tax assessor comes around and fail to turn on their color television and claim it to be a black and white set—for less tax.

Donald Stubbs, a member of the City Council of Kansas City, said that part of the personal property tax brings in about $700,000 there. He said the council voted unanimously to support the pending proposal. But, he said, the council would not even think about exempting those items unless they had some other means of additional income.

Elmer Smith, director of revenue for St. Louis County, said essentially the same thing. He said the tax brings in about $3 million to the municipalities in St. Louis County. St. Louis city gets about $3 million, also.

Rep. Donald J. Gralike, D-St. Louis, met opposition Tuesday when he testified for his bill to let school levies revert to the last approved amount instead of the basic $1.25 if an increase is defeated at the polls.

But the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, appeared to favor that measure.

Downs said he thought it was unfair to give voters a choice of an increase in the school levy or have it go back to the $1.25 rate.

He said it implied a threat that he considered a form of blackjack.

But Sen. Jack E. Gant, D-Independence, said he was told that was the only way some school districts could pass increases. He said if the voters knew it was either improve an increase or face half-day classes for lack of money they would be more apt to vote the increase.

Clarence McDonald, superintendent of Hazelwood schools in St. Louis County, opposed the measure. He said he feared it would create a trend toward standardization of tax rates.

But Gralike said he thought his proposal would be better than reverting to the "prehistoric, impossible ($1.25) figure."

Sen. Richard Southern, D-Monroe City, offered a bill to require the state to pay defense expenses for National Guardsmen involved in civil or criminal proceedings arising from their official duties.

Another Senate committee approved a bill to let the little Daviess County town of Pattonsburg annex a new townsite when the present town is covered by water backed up by the Pattonsburg Dam in the Grand River Basin.

Railroad Hearing Suspended

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Norfolk and Western Railroad wants to discontinue its last passenger train service in Missouri.

After two days of testimony before the State Public Service Commission the hearing here was suspended Tuesday and will move to Decatur, Ill. Thursday.

So far, this is what has happened:

Norfolk and Western told the PSC Feb. 5 it was abandoning the last passenger service Feb. 19. The move would include St. Louis to Kansas City trains—209 and 210—and the feeder service between Centralia and Columbia.

That would leave only a Missouri Pacific passenger train running from St. Louis to Kansas City, and there has been talk of discontinuing that service, also.

The PSC got a permanent injunction from Circuuit Judge Samuel E. Semple in Moberly Feb. 24 barring the railroad from abandoning the service.

Then the railroad filed a new application March 1 and also filed an appeal with the Supreme Court against the injunction by Judge Semple.

Albert Schoenbeck, attorney for the railroad

Tuesday told the PSC it costs the railroad $115,000 a year to keep six coaches in operation. Those figures were challenged by Errol Taylor, PSC counsel.

Flynn said the company's figures showed only one coach was repaired at a cost of $5,548 and one in 1967 for $15,000.

Schoenbeck said his figures were based on system-wide averages. He said earlier the railroad lost over $640,000 last year by operating the two trains.

Mexico, Chillicothe, Moberly and St. Louis have filed objections to a halt in the service. Without explanation Columbia City Attorney James H. Coonce told the PSC Monday that city was withdrawing its objections.

Schoenbeck said the expensive, unprofitable operation was hindering the railroad from providing better freight service. He said he thought the money wasted on these trains could be spent on improving freight service and on industrial development "which will produce more jobs and a better standard of living for more Missourians."

Jewish Publisher Buys King's Version

LONDON (AP) — A Jewish publisher says he has bought the British Commonwealth rights to King Hussein's account of the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Publisher Peter Owen told newsmen he plans to invite the Jordanian king to launch the book in London next June, two years after the war in which Israeli forces captured a large chunk of Hussein's territory.

"As a Jew I was nervous at first about publishing the book," said Owen, "but I have read it carefully and I am convinced that Hussein's account is objective and honest."

No Jurisdiction Over Young Burglar

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla (AP) — Police have an admitted burglar on their hands, but no jurisdiction.

A 7-year-old boy was caught burglarizing a home. He admitted breaking into the same house three times earlier, police said, and into another home once. Officers said radios, walkie talkies and a ring, all valued at $200, were taken.

Juvenile Court said it could not handle the case because the boy was under the court's minimum age for jurisdiction—eight years. Police said they would try to work out something with the youngster's mother.

Representation For Farmer Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri's two senators, Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton, were among 11 Democratic senators who have told President Nixon they think it essential that farmers be represented in any future trade negotiations.

The senators said in a letter to Nixon that they think a decision to make the Commerce Department responsible for the conduct of foreign trade negotiations could cause American farmers to lose their foreign markets because of what they called the department's industrial bias.

They urged Nixon to fill the White House Office of Special Trade, a position they said was created to ensure all sectors of the American economy with equal representation in trade negotiations.

82-Year-Old Coed 'Having a Ball'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Floy Ward decided to go back to college two years after her husband died and she says she's having a ball.

"I got tired of drinking tea and playing dominoes with my lady friends," she explains.

Mrs. Ward is 82 years old.

She's currently enrolled at Westminster College, auditing 10 hours of work in four classes.

Say Army Goofed on New Tank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House subcommittee has accused the Army of a "billion-dollar boo boo" in developing a new tank because:

—Although the tank is for reconnaisance, it can be heard three miles away.

—It has a "rooster tail exhaust" system that makes it an easy target.

—Its caseless ammunition is ultrainflammable, leaves burning residue in the breech which can prematurely ignite a round, and is adversely affected by moisture, oil, and rough handling.

—"Due to a problem with fuel-tank leaks, frequent checks for spilled fuel should be made to prevent fires."

—"When operating in jungle or heavy underbrush, vegetation will clog air intake grilles and the radiator, requiring frequent cleaning to avoid overheating."

—"The (Shillelagh) missile must not be fired when the launch vehicle is in motion."

—"Under extremely dusty conditions, the present air cleaner requires cleaning or replacement every 1½ hours."

These were the findings of a previously classified document that Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., ordered the Army to release Tuesday after six days of secret testimony on the Sheridan tank.

Stratton, chairman of the subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, said "the people have a right to know this incredible story."

Stratton charged that the Army had rushed the weapons system into combat and mass production in order to eliminate its possible cutback or elimination by the Bureau of the Budget and the secretary of defense.

He succeeded during the hearings in winning admission from one Army officer, Lt. Col. Stan Sheridan, that the tank was recommended for production for budgetary reasons although tests had indicated there were many problems.

Later, Sheridan's superiors heatedly denied this, despite an internal memorandum in the subcommittee's possession in which this point was stressed by Sheridan.

Lt. Gen. Austin W. Betts, chief of research and development for the Army, in often heated exchanges with Stratton, said it was relatively routine procedure to recommend production before all bugs in a system had been worked out.

Betts said the tank was recommended because there was an urgent need for it in Vietnam, and that he was sure the problems could be surmounted. He said this was his only consideration.

Stratton, who termed the tank "a billion dollar boo boo," sharply told Betts:

"We don't want to get a snow job here." He termed the general's comments "self-serving" and not in accord with results of the investigation.

Big Transports Face Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supersonic transport, which has generated almost as much noise within government as critics say it would in flight, faces a doubtful future at the hands of a budget-conscious White House.

A final decision on the controversial program is expected soon after a report goes to President Nixon this week from Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

Volpe has until recently been an outspoken supporter of developing an American SST and for this reason the report is expected to be favorable if not an outright recommendation for continued work.

Spadework for the report, however, was done by a review board of Cabinet undersecretaries and high-level agency heads known to have included bitter critics of the SST.

Although the report is likely to carry considerable weight, it goes to the White House at a time when President Nixon is combing the budget for soft spots and may be reluctant to restore funds that former President Johnson left out of his budget.

Volpe took note of this in a recent interview with the Associated Press when he said "all of us recognize the inflationary picture."

Program leaders have estimated more than $200 million will be needed to continue SST development in the next fiscal year, if the 1,800-mile-an-hour airliner is to become available for commercial use by 1976 or 1977.

The Boeing Co., Seattle, has a contract to build two prototype or flying test models, using engines provided by General Electric Co., Cincinnati. The Federal Aviation Administration has estimated that the government and contractors will have spent $1.5 billion on the program by the time the prototype phase has been completed.

SST backers say the United States must develop its own model to remain competitive with the French-British Concorde and the Russian TU144. Both the foreign models have flown, but are not expected to be in commercial use until the 1970s.

Critics of the program want development of an SST held up until some way can be found to curb the noise it makes on landings and takeoffs and when it crashes through the sound barrier.

Some critics also say that with only a few more years work a hypersonic transport may be developed that will make the SST obsolete.

Hoffa Asks No Favors In Jail

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A former convict friend of James R. Hoffa says the imprisoned Teamsters president is taking penitentiary life "like a soldier, asking no favors."

Hoffa, behind federal prison bars since March, 1967, has never stopped fighting for his release and "has lawyers coming in all the time—about twice a week," the informant said in an interview.

He expressed the opinion that prison life "is bothering him, but he won't admit it. He's pretty damn stubborn, and he won't ask for anything. And he could get things a lot easier."

Hoffa is serving eight years for jury tampering and five more for defrauding a Teamsters pension fund. The U.S. Supreme Court Monday ordered a new hearing in the 1964 jury case to determine whether there was illegal use of federal wiretapping.

The 56-year-old Hoffa is still working in the penitentiary's mattress department—"pounding them flat," said the informant, who asked that his name not be used.

"I laughed at him, and once asked him whose brains he was trying to knock in. But as long as he doesn't ask to be moved to other duties, the prison people won't move him. They can be just as tough."

Hoffa still lives alone, in a cell with an outside window that overlooks the courtyard.

"He's friendly with everybody, and he's not hard to approach and to talk to, but he prefers to pick his own pals—mostly guys in the labor business.

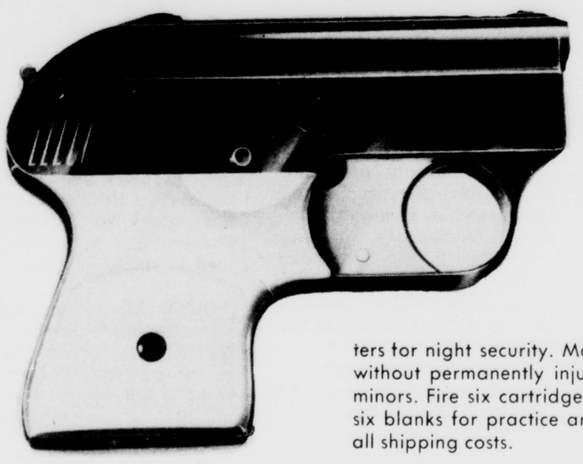

"He looks good. He keeps physically fit, playing a lot of quoits, and some handball and lifting weights, but not more than 100 pounds. He eats everything, and has a good appetite." The informant added:

"He's pretty well-versed on the court decisions that might affect him. He usually is pretty close-mouthed, but he talks to his own crowd about it, and they exchange opinions—and hopes."
